The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the President of the State Bank:

Indianapolis, December 3, 1839.

Hon. DAVID HILLIS,

President of the Senate—

SIR: Please lay the enclosed communication before the Senate.

Yours respectfully,

S. MERRILL.

To the General Assembly of the State of Indiana:

I had hoped to present to you, at the commencement of the session, a full statement respecting the agreement made in April last with the Morris Canal and Banking Company, for a loan of one million of dollars, to increase the State stock in the bank, but this cannot be done for a few days.

The two articles drawn on the subject were left in New York with the Fund Commissioners, as they were to carry into execution the contract on the part of the State; and though they were requested to bring on the originals, that copies might be taken here, it was inadvertently omitted.

A brief statement of what has been done in the business, was given to the Governor to be communicated in his message.

The security for the payment of the $490,000, it is understood, has been furnished; and the absence of the Fund Commissioners from New York may have prevented the return of the $500,000 State bonds, which were to have been handed over the 17th November.

Annexed is a copy of a letter from Mr. Southard, as to the sufficiency of the security. Similar information was obtained by Mr. Scott in Philadelphia, from the most respectable authority.

It has been thought best that I should leave for New York, to obviate any difficulty, if any there should be, as to the other $500,000; and as to other interests of the State, and the bank, which at this time seem to require attention. Only a short absence is anticipated.

S. MERRILL.

SAMUEL MERRILL, ESQ.,
President, &c. &c.—

Sir: Continued absence for several days, has prevented me, until this moment, from receiving and answering your letter of the 2d November.

You ask my opinion of the present and prospective value of the stock of the Little Schuylkill & Susquehannah Rail Road, and the sufficiency of $600,000 of that stock, as collateral security for the payment of $490,000 in monthly instalments.

I think it abundantly sufficient. I have no knowledge of its present rate in the market, nor of the amount which the $600,000 might bring at this moment. Nor do I suppose that you can desire information on this point, in the present state of the money market. As to its future value and sufficiency, to answer for the specified sum, as collateral security, I entertain no doubt. I have examined a portion of the rail road, and taken some pains to form an opinion of its cost, and of its future prospects, and have no hesitation in saying, that there are very few, if any, rail roads in this country, so well calculated to ensure to the stockholders an abundant recompense for their expenditures. It would probably be neither appropriate nor expected from me, to state the grounds of my opinion. I consider it one of the very best routes for a rail road in the United States, and have no doubt that it must, when completed, be one of the most productive, and the stock among the most valuable.

I am, very respectfully, &c. &c.,
SAM'L L. SOUTHARD.

J. City, Nov. 16, 1839.

Mr. Thompson moved that 1500 copies of the communication be printed for the use of the Senate,
Which motion did not prevail.

Mr. Ewing of Allen, moved that the communication be referred to a select committee,

Which motion was agreed to,

And the President of the Senate appointed Messrs. Ewing of Allen, and Baird of St. Joseph such committee.

Mr. Baird of St. Joseph, moved that three additional members be placed upon said committee by the President of the Senate,

Which motion was agreed to,

And Messrs. Bowen, Arion and Brady were accordingly appointed.

On motion of Mr. Thompson,

Messrs. Wright and Cravens were also added to said committee.

On motion of Mr. Kennedy,

Mr. Thompson was also added to said committee.

The President laid before the Senate the annual report of the Lawrenceburgh Branch of the State Bank of Indiana.

On motion of Mr. Bowen,

The report was laid upon the table.

On motion of Mr. Beard of M.,

The Senate took up the resolution of the House of Representatives fixing the time for going into the election of Circuit Judges, and Prosecuting Attorneys,

And Messrs. Armstrong and Green were appointed tellers.

And, on motion of Mr. Dobson,

The Senate reciprocated said resolution.

On motion of Mr. Nave,

Resolved, That copies of the message of his Excellency, the Governor, be printed for the use of the Senate.

Mr. Kennedy moved that the blank in said resolution be filled with the number forty-seven.

Mr. Beard of M. moved that said blank be filled with 2000.

And the question being taken on the highest number, it was decided in the negative.

On motion of Mr. Arion, said resolution was laid upon the table.

Mr. Ewing of Cass, offered for adoption the following resolution:

Resolved, That whereas we are informed by his Excellency, the Governor, in his late message, that in pursuance of the law of 1836, authorizing a loan of ten millions of dollars for a system of internal improvement, that said amount has been loaned and squandered, and has produced the immense returns of $13,338 canal and rail road tolls."

And whereas His Excellency hopes that said works "may not be abandoned altogether," and to the end that the residue thereof may be finally completed as contemplated in said message.

Be it further Resolved, That the invaluable services of the late fund commissioner, Dr. Coe, be again put in requisition; that thereby sundry soap factories, and tallow chandleries, and valueless obligations of sundry swindling corporations in and about New-York and the city of Hoboken, procured by said Dr. Coe and others, for the state of Indiana, in exchange for her state bonds, may be hypothecated or converted, and the proceeds applied to the purchase of mulberry trees, sugar beets, and the residue of the stock of the Morris Canal and Banking Company, and that out of the profits resulting from the cultivation and dividends thereof, said glorious system of 1836 may be ultimately completed.

Mr. Dobson moved to amend said resolution by adding, after the words, "sugar beets," the following words: "Brandeth's Pills and the Matchless Sanative;"

Which amendment was accepted by the mover.

Mr. Bowen moved further to amend said resolution by adding the following:

"And that the profits of the tallow chandlery be especially reserved for the improvement of the Michigan Road;"

Which amendment was adopted. And

On motion of Mr. Clark said resolution with the amendments, were laid upon the table.

Mr. Wright offered for adoption, the following resolution:

Resolved, That so much of the Governor's Message as relates to the completion of a part of the public works, meets the decided approbation of the Senate; and that we view the system of internal improvement, by the act of 1836, with its management up to the present time as impolitic; and that the suspension of all the public works except one, or not more than two at most, is called for by every class of our community; and that it is the decided opinion of this Senate, that under the present situation of our financial affairs, and of the resources of the state, that it is expedient and practicable to classify the public works, and to modify the act of 1836, not only in word but in practice; and that a further prosecution of the whole of the public works, (if we had the means,) at one and the same time, would be destructive of the best interest of the state.

Mr. Chamberlain moved to lay said resolution on the table.

And said resolution was laid upon the table by consent.

Mr. Thompson introduced a joint resolution, (No. 2,) entitled

"A joint resolution relative to the election of Sergeant-at-Arms."

Which was read a first time.

Mr. Thompson moved that the rules of the Senate be dispensed with, and the joint resolution be read a second time now,

Which motion did not prevail.

And the joint resolution was ordered to a second reading on tomorrow.

the county of Monroe;

SIR—I have the honor herewith to transmit a copy of a letter from Milton Stapp, Esq., Fund Commissioner, in relation to the debts of the State—please lay it before the Senate.

Your obedient servant,

L. H. SCOTT, F. C.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11, 1839.

DEAR SIR—

The outlines of a settlement with the Morris Canal and Banking Company is agreed upon, and Mr. Biddle and myself go to Philadelphia to night to try and consummate the agreement. He has to get from the United States Bank $100,000 of Beers' certificate of deposit, in order to consummate the matter; this he thinks he can do. He gives me Beers' certificate of deposit; due 1st January next $50,000; due 1st July next, $50,000; due 1st January 1841, $196,000. He gives me Morris Canal and Banking Company Post Notes for half the balance of the principal due in equal payments 1st April, July, Oct. 1841, and January 1842. For the balance he gives Morris Canal and Banking Company notes due 1st January, March, May, July, September, and November, 1841; which may be renewed twelve months by giving farther security, provided stocks will not then sell at a fair rate. He gives their post-notes for the interest due in January and July each year, until the whole is paid. He gives me divers stocks for security. I do not think the security entirely ample, but it is the best that can be done. I think Mr. Merrill and they will settle.

Very respectfully,

(Copy.)

Your obedient servant,

L. H. SCOTT, F. C.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11, 1839.

DEAR SIR—

The outlines of a settlement with the Morris Canal and Banking Company is agreed upon, and Mr. Biddle and myself go to Philadelphia to night to try and consummate the agreement. He has to get from the United States Bank $100,000 of Beers' certificate of deposit, in order to consummate the matter; this he thinks he can do. He gives me Beers' certificate of deposit; due 1st January next $50,000; due 1st July next, $50,000; due 1st January 1841, $196,000. He gives me Morris Canal and Banking Company Post Notes for half the balance of the principal due in equal payments 1st April, July, Oct. 1841, and January 1842. For the balance he gives Morris Canal and Banking Company notes due 1st January, March, May, July, September, and November, 1841; which may be renewed twelve months by giving farther security, provided stocks will not then sell at a fair rate. He gives their post-notes for the interest due in January and July each year, until the whole is paid. He gives me divers stocks for security. I do not think the security entirely ample, but it is the best that can be done. I think Mr. Merrill and they will settle.

Very respectfully,

MR. PRESIDENT—

The select committee to whom was referred that portion of the Governor's message which referred to "a deranged and ruined currency, a universal prostration of credit and confidence, the deep and unmitigated pecuniary distress, which is now visiting or threatening every class of our late prosperous community," with instructions to inquire into the cause thereof, have according to order had that subject under consideration, and the majority of said committee have directed me to report, that in their opinion it is at present inexpedient to inquire into the cause thereof, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of that subject.

The undersigned, the minority of said committee, would gladly, could a sense of duty permit him, coincide with the opinion of the majority of the committee, by whom as their chairman, he has been instructed to make the foregoing report; but after his having offered the resolution of inquiry, truth, common sense, and a just regard for his own character as a Senator, and as a consistent man, alike forbid it.

He will not therefore shrink from going into an examination of the causes of our present prostrated condition in relation to pecuniary matters as required by the resolution.

His Excellency, Governor Wallace, sensible that a deep and abiding feeling, had spread itself through the land, that there had been mismanagement somewhere, has, by a species of subterfuge more becoming a petty court lawyer, than his elevated station, attempted to throw the censure of the present state of affairs upon the last and present administrations of the General Government. Thus picking at the mote in his neighbor's eye, while the beam remains in his own.

I would ask, have we not as good a currency now as we had during the existence of the national bank?

Have we not besides the notes of that bank, which Mr. Biddle said was on a more favorable footing under its present than under its former charter, an increase of gold coin, equal to the entire circulation of that bank formerly? and this has been the effect of the much abused gold bill, which all admit induced the flow of gold into the United States, and which is evident must cause it to remain with us. We have besides the notes of our state bank, confessedly a good circulation.

I would ask if our present collapsed state (I speak of the country generally) is not a necessary consequence upon our former inflated condition, both consequent upon principles as immutable as the nature of man, and both aggravated by a vicious paper system?

If the state of our money market is attributable to the action of the General Government, I will ask how shall we account for the fact, that the monetary affairs of Great Britain, are in a similar situation, when the action of the Government there towards the credit system, has always been and continues orthodox with the whig party of America.

Upon the removal of the deposits from the U. S. Bank, that bank having declared it necessary for her to call in her circulation, the State Banks were induced to issue a sufficiency of paper to fill the vacuum about to be caused by that operation, but did we not see that institution afterwards, in the face of her own previous assertion that she must wind up, discount most liberally and increase her circulation, and accommodations to a most unparalleled extent.

And here the two systems of banking seemed to vie for the palm of extravagancy.

The national Government were known to be inimical to the one system, and the other, the people of the separate States had under their own control. Then how in candor can we censure the General Government, with the extravagance of either?

The sudden increase of bank paper not only offered facilities to men unaccustomed to mercantile pursuits, to engage therein, but induced men of all classes to drop their lawful callings, and to turn out into the great Malestrom of reckless speculation.

Thus the productiveness of the country was not only diminished, but extravagant foreign importations induced; while the same accursed Pandora's box also so raised the price or nominal value of our surplus produce, that it would not bear exportation.

We were going on in this manner, headlong, to our own destruction, when the warning voice of the specie circular was heard, which, comparatively speaking, gently let the wind out of the paper bubble, which if suffered to have expanded to its full size before explosion, would have overwhelmed us in such a scene of disasters as a century would scarce have sufficed to clear up.

The truth is, that as a general thing, we the people of the United States, have been too extravagant—have overbanked, and overdone every thing except overworking ourselves, and hence, the present indebtedness of the country, and would to Heaven, that I could say that this general depression, was all that sat lowering upon the fortunes of the people of this State; but such, I grieve, while I say it, is not the case. We have our peculiar local circumstances, so much more oppressive to our interests, that it becomes a mere matter of indifference to us whether the comparatively slight cloud of adversity which covers the Union generally, be attributable to this or that of the great political parties of the day. Four and a half per cent. stocks of New York have lately sold at 90; and other states also have been making sales of their bonds latterly, which most clearly proves that the total failure of Indiana to procure funds must be laid to causes, other than the general depression of the money market.

Had Gov. Wallace spoken out boldly, like an honest man, and not like a time-serving politician, trying to trim his wherry to the blast, he would have told us that, our present distress was mainly owing to our having undertaken a system of internal improvement, entirely disproportionate to the means of the State—a system adopted without reference to the best interests of the State, but carried through the halls of legislation, by a corrupt and local concatenation of interests—a system which has been sustained by keeping the mass of the people in ignorance as to the “modus operandi” thereof, a system in fact conceived in sin, brought forth in iniquity, and, attempted to be sustained by deception.

The system, bad as it was, owing to the natural rivalry, that must have existed between its component parts, when completed was rendered an engine of more immediate destruction, by the carrying out of the views of Governor Wallace and his political friends, by a simultaneous prosecution of the works, their cost was doubled, whilst the people were lulled to rest by the syren song, that though the cost of the works to the State might be much enhanced, that still they would be benefitted by the enhanced price of labor, produce, &c. in a greater ratio. The important fact that the State represented their own pockets in this particular, seemed to be overlooked.

Every measure was resorted to, to prevent the people's feeling the first breath of the coming storm, until it was alike ruinous to progress or to recede, with a view that those works particularly interesting, to the principal parties concerned in the concoction of the bill of 1836, might be too far advanced to be abandoned.

The premium properly received on the sale of state bonds, instead of being used as capital, has been absorbed as well as a portion of the capital itself in the payment of interest, the party in power knowing full well that if a system of taxation was resorted to, sufficient to defray our interest account, that the people would be immediately brought to reflection upon the subject. Hence Gov. Wallace and his friends studiously avoided such a course, until the day of discounts and not of premiums came on. Here humbuggery had to halt! The eastern nabob would no longer let his money go to a people who could not sustain a tax sufficient to cover the interest upon their liabilities, and here the present revenue bill had its origin, which amount as it is falls far short of meeting the interest on our state bonds.

Our funds had been so flush in the east, until our late disasters, that our merchants were always able to procure eastern drafts upon easy terms. This source now being cut off, accounts in some degree for our local "derangement of the currency."

We find that instead of being able to procure funds upon the sale of state bonds as heretofore, that our commissioners after having sold bonds upon such terms that more than a quarter of a million is lost in discounts have suffered themselves to be fooled out of nearly three millions, which if we do not eventually lose in toto, at least we lose the use of it now, when we want it most.

A portion of the above amount was intended for the increase of the capital of our state bank, in which object we have also failed, while the bonds of Indiana have passed into the hands of a company of English Jews, (the Rothschilds) who tauntingly tell us, that if we do not pay up the interest more punctually, that the bonds will be exposed to public sale at any sacrifice. Indiana has been drained of her specie to pay the interest on these bonds, though we have received nothing from the sale thereof.

The state has besides crippled the usefulness of the branches of the State Bank, by borrowing largely from them, thus of course, curtailing their private discount list—and last not least, our contractors on the public works are bleeding at every pore, for the million which the state owes them, and one cent of which we cannot pay, though we have more than double that owing to us from eastern corporations, out of which they have duped our fund commissioners, and which bonds we are well aware are now hypothecated in London by that adjunct of the the Bank of the United States, the Morris Canal and Banking Company.

Our depressed financial condition in short has been produced by our unwise system of internal improvement, by our more unwise manner of prosecuting it, and by the most unwise course pursued by our fund commissioners in trusting our state bonds to so large an amount in the hands of irresponsible and swindling corporations, and not as modestly suggested by Gov. Wallace is it owing to the measures of Andrew Jackson or Martin Van Buren.

That man truly must have a most enviable stock of self-assurance, and a most exalted opinion of the intelligence of his fellow-citizens, who can flatter himself after having been almost the prime mover in this scheme of mischief, that he can not only induce them to hold him guiltless, but to cast the censure upon the innocent.

All which is respectfully submitted,

CH. W. CATHCART.

Mr. Nave moved to re-commit said report to the same select committee to whom the subject was originally referred.

Mr. Watts moved to amend said motion by adding Mr. Dobson to said committee.

Mr. Kennedy moved to amend said amendment by adding "and that 500 copies of said report be printed.

Messrs. Berry, Brady, Carr, Cathcart, Dobson, Finch, Green, Hackett, Kennedy, Kinzer, Lowe, Nickel, Smiley, Tannehill, Thompson, Tuley, Watt and Wright—18.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Angle, Beard of M., Blair, Bowen, Carnan, Elliott, Ewing of Allen, Herriott, Moffatt, Morgan, Mount, Nave, Riley, Smith, Stafford, Stephenson, Watts and Williams—18.

And the President voted in the negative.

So said amendment to the amendment did not prevail.

And on motion,

The Senate adjourned.

2 o'clock P. M.

The Senate assembled.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Treasurer of State:

TREASURER'S OFFICE,
Indianapolis, Dec. 24th, 1839.

HON. DAVID HILLIS,
President of the Senate,

Sir—In reply to a resolution of the Senate of the 22d inst. "that the Treasurer of State be requested to inform the Senate in what manner the Commissioners of the College and Saline fund perform their duty as such Commissioners, and whether if the offices of said Commissioners were made to depend on election by the Legislature for a definite term, it would not better secure the safety of said funds and a more prompt attention of said Commissioners to their duty."

The undersigned will state, that by existing law, the Commissioners of the College lands in the counties of Monroe and Gibson, hold their office without limitation of tenure.

This is also the case with the Commissioners of the Saline lands. Some of the Commissioners thus holding office, have been extremely negligent and remiss in making their reports and in making their payments into the Treasury, of the moneys received by them on account of sales of the lands under their charge.

It has been in vain that the undersigned has urged and remonstrated with the delinquent Commissioner in relation to his neglect. The undersigned has also been requested by the securities in these cases to be released from their bonds, as they were unwilling to be longer bound for their principal, but as no relief could be granted but by the General Assembly, the securities will still continue bound without limitation of time, unless provision be made by law for their relief.

I have no doubt but a change of the law, so as to make the office depend on a periodical election by joint vote of the Legislature, or appointment by the Governor would tend greatly to a prompt and vigilant discharge of duty.

It would at least, open the way for the discharge of a negligent and inefficient officer; while the Legislature or other appointing power would most certainly retain those that were faithful and trustworthy.

I have no hesitation therefore, in advancing the opinion that the change suggested would have a most salutary effect upon this branch of the public service.

The undersigned would remark that as the transactions in relation to the Saline lands have become small and mostly near being wound up, there will be less necessity for a change in the appointment of those Commissioners; more especially as those now in office have in the general, promptly paid their receipts into the Treasury.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

N. B. PALMER,

Treasurer of State.

On motion of Mr. Bowen, said communication was referred to the committee on education.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Treasurer of State.

HON. DAVID HILLIS,
President of the Senate:

The undersigned herewith communicates to the Senate, that agreeably to the "joint resolution of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, relative to the Lawrenceburgh and Indianapolis Rail-road, approved 15th February, 1839:

The said company did on the 8th day of April last, by a resolution of its board of directors, relinquish and surrender its charter to the State of Indiana, upon the terms and conditions of said joint resolution; and that on the 13th day of April, 1839, said company caused to be filed in the office of Treasurer of State, a certified copy of said resolution and order of surrender under its seal and the signature of its President and Secretary.

It is ascertained that in some cases default is made by the mortgagors, (on the bonds and mortgages assigned by that company to the state,) in the payment of the semi-annual interest on these mortgages. By the tenor of these mortgages, the principal becomes due on the failure to pay promptly the interest semi-annually as it becomes due.

As the state is bound to pay the interest on the bonds given to that company in exchange for these mortgages, it is important that some provision should be made by law for enforcing the collection of the mortgage money in all cases of failure promptly to pay the interest as it becomes due.

There is no existing law making it the duty of any officer of the government to commence suit, or superintend the collection of these funds. As the Auditor of Public Accounts is the proper accountant and collecting officer, I respectfully recommend that a law be enacted making it his duty to attend to the collections aforesaid.

A difficulty has arisen in cases analagous to this, which it seems to me important to remedy, not only in anticipation of like occurrences in the collection of these mortgages; but in all others in which the state is interested. Instances have occurred, where the state on foreclosure of a mortgage, and exposing the premises to sale, have only been able to realize about one-third of the mortgage money in consequence of no greater bid being offered.

In most cases where it becomes necessary to enforce collection by sale of mortgaged premises, the mortgagor is insolvent, and if the property be suffered to go for a less sum than that due, the balance will be a total loss to the state.

As a guard against losses of this kind, I respectfully suggest the propriety of providing by law, that on sale of mortgaged premises, where the state is a party, that if no bid shall be offered equal to the debt, damages, interest and costs, it shall be the duty of the officer having charge of the collection of the debt, to bid in the same for the state.

Respectfully submitted,

N. B. PALMER,

Treasurer of State.

TREASURER'S OFFICE,

And further to report, whether or not the $1,000,000 of sterling bonds sold to the Morris Canal and Banking Company in 1838, and which are payable in London, will not cost the state both in the payment of interest and principal the difference of exchange between this country and London, over and above the $1,000,000 principal and interest thereon.

On motion of Mr. Thompson, public works and not paid for by the state, and for that purpose to hypothecate to the State Bank all the funds now due said State for bonds heretofore sold and for which she has not received the proceeds thereof, and further to enquire into the expediency of authorizing the State Bank and further to inquire into the expediency of authorizing the State Bank to issue one million and a half of dollars in notes of a less denomination than five dollars for the purpose aforesaid, and redeemable in the same manner as other notes now issued by said banks, and report by bill or otherwise.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Treasurer of State:

TREASURER'S OFFICE,
Indianapolis, Dec. 30th, 1839.

HON. DAVID HILLIS,
President of the Senate,

Agreeably to the requirements of the act of 8th February, 1836, concerning the state house, the undersigned submits the following bill of payments on account of the state house, and expenses incident to the session of the General Assembly.

It is my duty again to call the attention of the General Assembly to the propriety of authorising an insurance of the state house against loss by fire. There is not at this time, any law authorizing its insurance, and if the General Assembly shall deem it advisable to effect an insurance of the building, or any portion of its value, against loss by fire, a law to that effect will be necessary.

I beg again to submit the propriety of authorising a change in the manner of heating the halls, so as to be effectual through the agency of rarified air.

I again submit the following considerations as some of the advantages which it is believed will result from the change.

1st. It will avoid the annoyance of smoke and dust, and the noise and disturbance attendant on keeping up the fires as now practiced.

2d. It will be economy in saving fuel, attendants, &c.

3d. It will be much safer on account of fire, as fire will only be necessary in the furnaces at the air chambers, and those should be fire proof.

The cost of the necessary preparations for heating the two halls will be about $800, according to the best data I have been able to obtain.

The carpeting in the Representative Hall will require to be renewed, a law authorizing it will be necessary.

The original vouchers for the several payments will be submitted to the proper committee, a schedule of which is hereunto annexed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

To the Hon. the General Assembly of the State of Indiana:

The Trustees of Hanover College, in compliance with a requisition of their charter, respectfully present their annual report of the state of the institution.

The Faculty is composed of the following gentlemen, viz:

Rev. E. D. Mac Master, A. M., President, and Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy.

Rev. J. Finley Crowe, D. D., Vice President, and Professor of Logic, Rhetoric and Political Economy.

Hon. Miles C. Eggleston, Professor of Law.

Thomas W. Hynes, A. M., Professor of Mathematics and Natural Science.

Samuel Galloway, A. M., Professor of Languages.

Rev. James A. McKee, A. B., Principal of the Preparatory Department.

Asabel Munson, A. B., Tutor.

The annual catalogue exhibits the following summary of students during the year, viz:

In Law	14
Under graduates pursuing the full College course	35
University Students pursuing parts of the College course	16
Preparatory Department	51

Total 116

At the last annual commencement, the degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred on six young gentlemen, who had completed the collegiate course.

The course of studies pursued is similar to that in other colleges in the United States. Besides instruction according to this course, in Natural Theology, the Analogy of Natural and Revealed Religion to the constitution and course of nature, the Evidences of Christianity and Moral Philosophy, the Students are required to attend on the reading of the Scriptures and prayer in the Chapel daily, and on public worship on the Sabbath. The President and Professors also give instruction on Sabbath evenings to the several classes in a portion of the Holy Scriptures; and in their daily intercourse inculcate the principles and duties of Christianity.

It is the aim of the Faculty to govern the institution, not by minute regulations enforced by a system of espionage and coercion, which provoke transgression and injure character; but by bringing the students under the influence of moral and religious considerations and thus throwing them, so far as practicable, on their own responsibilities, and inducing them to govern themselves. The trustees are happy to say, that these means have hitherto been successful in securing order and good conduct.

The faculty, it is believed, devote themselves with assiduity to the improvement of the young men committed to their instruction; and the examinations at the close of each session evince, on the part of the students, a gratifying efficiency in their studies. The location of the institution on the Ohio river, combining, as it does, ease of access, retirement, healthfulness, cheapness of living, and exemption from temptations incident to more populous places, gives to it great advantages as a place of education. By a public vote the retail of ardent spirits is excluded from the township. The moral and religious character of the surrounding community and the watchful care of the Faculty afford securities for the safety and welfare of the students.

The Trustees have great satisfaction in reporting, that the number of students is gradually increasing, the standard of scholarship advancing, and the institution giving promise of fulfilling the expectations of its friends, and accomplishing the objects for which it has been established, in efficiently promoting sound and christian education.

All which is respectfully submitted,

JOHN MATTHEWS,
Pres't Board Trustees.

Hanover, December 26, 1839.

SATURDAY MORNING, JAN. 11, 1840.

The Senate assembled.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Board of Internal improvement:

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD,

Indianapolis, 7th January, 1840.

The Hon. DAVID HILLIS,

President of the Senate,

Sir—On motion of the Hon. Mr. Wright, the Senate passed a resolution calling on the Board to know whether there has been contracts let on the rail road this side of Columbus and Vernon, and whether after the publication of N. Noble, on the subject of suspension of the public works, a number of said contractors did not entirely suspend operations, and whether said Board did not re-let said contracts to a company at Madison, at the prices of the letting in June last.

In reply I will inform the Senate, that N. Noble issued and published a circular to the contractors of his district, of 18th August, announcing the failure to procure funds to pay the estimates due them, leaving it to their discretion to proceed or not, but advising them if they continued to reduce their force. Subsequently, and as the prospect of funds diminished, he addressed two other circular letters advising them to cease operations, which was communicated by the Engineers, but not published.

To prevent a delay that would happen in finishing the works, if any of the jobs were suffered to drop behind, it is the duty, and has been the practice of all the commissioners to re-let such sections as are forfeited or abandoned by the contractors to whom first let. If the commissioner can succeed in re-letting the abandoned work, at the same prices, to responsible persons, he considers it fortunate, and if he fails in that, it is then his duty to re-let by receiving new bids; under this rule, so well understood, I had an offer the latter part of August or 1st of September, for all the work which had been forfeited or abandoned, including the sections on this side of Columbus, at the same prices bid for them in June at the letting. As was my duty in that case, and as I did, on the other lines, I accepted the offer, giving the company the right to the work, but that the legislature might have the opportunity of acting upon the whole subject of our works, in place of compelling them to proceed immediately, as is usual they were not required to commence the work before the 1st March next. In regard to the latter branch of the call, I have to say, none of the work suspended in consequence of the circular of the commissioner was re-let, the contracts only embracing the sections this side of Columbus, and such jobs between Columbus and Vernon as was reported by the Engineer as being abandoned or forfeited.

N. NOBLE,

Prest. Bd. Int. Imp.

NOTE. After the first failure to pay the estimates due to contractors, and whilst there were doubts about getting money for that purpose, I was called on to approve of a transfer of some work this side of Columbus, to an individual who had no means to pay hands, and whose habits prevented my assent for the amount of work he wanted—for all which reasons he was refused.

N. NOBLE.

Which report was read and laid upon the table.

Mr. Nave, from the committee on corporations, made the following report:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The committee on corporations to whom was referred the report of the Salem Savings Institution, have had the same under consideration, and being unadvised in the premises, have directed me to report the same back to the Senate, and ask to be discharged from any action thereon, And the committee were accordingly discharged.

Mr. Beard of M., having obtained leave, introduced a bill entitled, No. 105, a bill to amend an act entitled "an act to incorporate the Western Literary society of the Wabash College, in the county of Montgomery, approved February 7th, 1835; which was read a first time.

On motion of Mr. Beard of M., the rules of the Senate were suspended and the bill read a second and third times and passed.

Ordered, That the House of Representatives be informed thereof.

On motion of Mr. Chamberlain,

Resolved, That the Chief Engineer be requested, without unnecessary delay, to lay before the Senate a statement showing that "the usual quantity" of water deemed necessary to supply a canal of the dimensions of the Wabash and Erie canal west of Fort Wayne. Also what quantity of water will be required per mile per minute, to supply a canal of the dimensions of the Wabash and Erie canal east of Fort Wayne. And also, whether in making the calculation of "52 feet per minute per mile," in his communication to R. Dickerson Esq., Acting Commissioner, Ohio Div. W. and E. canal, of August 1, 1839, any allowance has been made for the increased consumption of water which will be occasioned by the "unusual" size of the canal between Fort Wayne and the State line, and if not, what deduction should be made from the quantity of water available at the St. Joseph feeder, for navigation on account of the increased dimensions of that part of said canal. And also what quantity of water may be desired from the Erie and Michigan canal, upon its completion from the feeder to Fort Wayne over and above what the consumption of said canal will require.

And also, if the waters of the Little St. Joseph be used to supply the proposed reservoir in Ohio, referred to in said communication, what effect will the increased current have upon the navigation east of Fort Wayne; and what quantity of water will be required to supply said reservoir per annum, including the usual allowance for lockage and evaporation.

And also to state, whether any alterations have been made in the plan of the Erie and Michigan canal or its feeder, with the view principally of supplying the Wabash and Erie canal east of Fort Wayne with water; and if so, what these alterations have been, and what effect such alterations of said feeder will produce upon its navigation, on account of its diminished size and increased current; and whether said alterations are necessary, and if so, why?

And also, in case Ohio persists in the adoption of "the high level" on what source will Indiana principally rely for a supply of water for the additional quantity in that event required, if she "takes upon herself the care and responsibility of filling" the said reservoir. And also in case the Wabash and Erie canal should be completed "to the state line by May or June next" as is in the aforesaid communication contemplated, and Ohio should also immediately complete her portion thereof, what probable sacrifice of interest would Indiana annually sustain on account of said deficiency of water during the supposed period annually of 120 days.

And also what would be the cost of a completion of the Erie and Michigan canal from its feeders to Fort Wayne, in addition to the amount of labor now done thereon.

Mr. Baird of St. Joseph having obtained leave, introduced a bill entitled,

No. 106, a bill to repeal an act entitled "an act to amend an act entitled, 'an act regulating the taking up of animals going astray, and

Mr. Brady moved to amend said bill by inserting the following provisos:

Provided, however, in order to dispense with as far as possible, the issue of treasury notes herein provided for, it shall be the duty of the board of directors of the state bank, to take into consideration the practicability of extending their issues; and if it shall be ascertained by a correspondence with our fund commissioners in the East, that any amount of funds can be made available out of any of the debts or property due or belonging to the State in a short time; then and in that case the board shall anticipate those funds to that extent, and extend their issues as herein provided for, not exceeding what the bank is already authorized to do, and to order a loan to be made to the State through the branches of the state bank, at an interest not exceeding six per cent; and the fund commissioner or fund commissioners shall pay over to the state bank all the proceeds of said anticipated funds, with the least possible delay.

And it is hereby made the duty of the President of the State Bank, to open a correspondence with our fund commissioners in the eastern cities, with a view to ascertain the prospect of procuring funds for the aforesaid purpose. MR. PRESIDENT—

The committee on canals and internal improvements, to whom was referred the bill of the Senate entitled a bill providing for the selection, rating, and selling lands yet due on the Wabash and Erie canal east of the mouth of the Tippecanoe river and for other purposes, have had the subject matter of that reference before them. And inasmuch as it is a subject of much importance, your committee are not willing to say, that with other official duties they can do it justice within forty eight hours. A portion of your committee are notified to attend on the judiciary committee on to-morrow evening, and this evening on other subjects connected with their official duties.

Such a restriction perhaps never was thrown around such a committee similarly situated, as to require them unconditionally to report upon so important a subject within such limited time. And further your committee believe that such a requisition is illiberal and unjust, and tantamount to saying that they have hitherto been negligent in the discharge of official duties. Ever anxious to discharge every official duty respectfully required of your committee by the Senate, and being conscious of having punctiliously done so, we are unwilling to say we can do said subject justice within said time, and therefore return said bill to the Senate without examination.

BAIRD, of St. Joseph, Ch'n.

And the committee were discharged.

Mr. Beard of M., from the committee on ways and means, made the following report:

The committee on ways and means to whom was referred that part of the Governor's message relating to the distribution of the proceeds of the sale of the public lands among the several states, now report, that the committee have given that subject their consideration at an early part of the session, and came to the conclusion, that much as they might desire to have seen the bill that passed both houses of Congress, and which gave to Indiana for the five years that it was to run at least three millions of dollars, (and which if continued must give her at least $200,000 a year for half a century to come) become a law, your committee come to the conclusion that this was a subject that our senators and representatives in Congress well understood, and that it would be attended with no good consequences to memorialize on the subject, and therefore come to the conclusion that it was useless to legislate on that subject, since that time the subject of the public lands has been presented to the Senate by the introduction of a bill lately introduced into the Senate of the United States, which bill has been referred to a select committee, and that they may have the whole subject before them your committee have therefore come to the conclusion to report said resolution back to the Senate, with a recommendation that it be referred to the select committee to whom Mr. Calhoun's land bill was referred, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Thompson, chairman of the judiciary committee, made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The judiciary committee to whom was referred a bill of the House entitled, an act to provide for the formation of the county of Van Buren, have had the bill under their consideration, and instructed me to report it without amendment, and recommend its indefinite postponement. Believing the provisions thereof would infringe the constitution of Indiana, inasmuch as the constitution expressly declares—(article 2d, second, section 12th; “the General Assembly when they lay off any new county, shall not reduce the old county or counties from which the same shall be taken to a less content than four hundred square miles. It is admitted that by the formation of the new county, as is contemplated by the provisions of the bill, it would reduce Wabash and Miami counties to a less content than 400 square miles. But it is contended that the provision of the constitution above alluded to, refers only to those counties which were formed and in existence at the time the constitution was adopted. To this strained construction your committee cannot concur, and believe such a view of that instrument is altogether gratuitous and does violence to the very letter and spirit thereof. Your committee cannot be persuaded that the 2d article, 12th section, will admit of any such perversion. Why should the framers of the constitution have provided that counties laid out before its adoption should not be reduced to less than 400 square miles and not impose the same restriction relative to those to be formed thereafter. The reason and policy which would render it expedient in one case, as forcibly applies in the other; and the intention of the convention is too clearly expressed to admit of a two fold construction.

The members of the convention were men selected for their wisdom and experience, and could readily foresee what the selfish workings of the human heart would in after times prompt them to attempt to render the public interest subservient to individual, and in furtherance thereof, instances would occur when for that purpose efforts would be made to divide and sub-divide counties until reduced to the mere space of townships to thereby advance individual interest in enlarging the value of their property by procuring the location of the county seats on or near their lands, greatly to the prejudice of the mass of the population, hence, your committee are fully persuaded that to shield us against such impolicy the convention have provided, in substance, that no county shall be reduced to less than 400 square miles under any circumstances whatever, whether created before or after the adoption of the constitution.

On motion of Mr. Kennedy, said report was laid upon the table.

Mr. Thompson, chairman of the judiciary committee, made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The judiciary committee to whom was referred a resolution instructing an inquiry into the expediency and necessity of re-organizing the probate court system, have, after consulting, instructed me to report that other measures of great importance which have precedence from the order of business before your committee, will consume so much of the time allotted for this present session, that it will thereby become impracticable to bestow the time and deliberation indispensable to the preparation of a bill, the maturing the various important provisions for the enactment of a law to change thoroughly a system so obviously defective to all. It is conceded without a dissenting voice, that owing to the defects in its organization, the trials therein in many instances are a mere mockery of justice and law—the rights of litigants are hazarded as by a game of chance, and orphans and widows are defrauded out of the pittance left them by their departed husbands and fathers. And thus by unjustly taking from them the hard earnings of the decedent, which if frugally managed and properly secured by the administration of wholesome laws by a competent court, would have kept them above penury and want. And for the want of such a court they are stripped of their little means in many instances by unjust claims and cast penniless and helpless to shift and struggle as they best can without a parent's or guardian's care to aid, counsel, and protect them from the frauds and dishonest claims so frequently preferred. To remedy these evils is in the power, and most certainly is the duty of the legislature.

The probate courts are at least as important as any judicial tribunals in the state. In the course of a short lifetime, all property within our limits has in some way or other to undergo and abide the decisions of this court, or to resort to other tribunals to correct their errors and unjust and illegal judgments. They have the settlement of every decedent's estate, and in very many cases the settlement, if it can be understood at all, is found to be unjust and illegal, and consequently when orphans grow up and learn their rights, and ascertain how they have been defrauded, and their parent's will perverted or disregarded, suits thereon will multiply in the circuit courts almost without number, and there will be no end to litigation. Who then cannot see the necessity of reorganizing this court? Will not all admit the greatest defect in the present system is those provisions which preclude the procuring of competent and able judges, without which it will be useless to attempt to reorganize the system; and it cannot be expected that judges competent can be induced to accept without being well compensated. Will the Legislature refuse or neglect to re-organize a system so glaringly defective and offer inducements sufficient to procure the services of judges capable and learned in the law, and in the same session appropriate hundreds of thousands to objects of minor importance to an able and competent judicial tribunal? We trust not.

In conclusion, your committee will remark that inasmuch as several members of the committee have given assurances that during the interval between this and the next session, they will respectively prepare and present a bill or bills at an early day of the session to reorganize the system, some one of which we trust will be adopted.

Therefore your committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

And said committee were accordingly discharged.

Mr. Finch, from the committee on public buildings, made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The joint committee on public buildings to which was referred the report of the Treasurer of State in relation to the state-house, beg leave to report that the committee deem the amount of public interest involved in the hazard of permitting the capital to remain uninsured, is sufficient to justify the expenditure consequent upon an insurance of at least half the value of the building against loss by fire.

The committee is also of opinion, that, from the reasons set forth in the Treasurer's report, it will be expedient to change the mode of heating the halls, so as to effect the same through the agency of rarified air. The committee therefore, herewith report a bill to carry into effect these two propositions, and to authorize the renewal of the carpeting in the Representative Hall.

The committee have also examined the vouchers submitted by the treasurer of state, for disbursements made an account of the state-house and expenses incident to the sessions of the General Assembly, and find them correct, and that the aggregate amount is $951 87, for which the committee recommend provision to be made in the specific appropriation bill. The President laid before the Senate a communication from Lucius H. Scott, Esq., one of the Fund Commissioners, transmitting certain information, in answer to certain resolutions of inquiry by the Senate.

The following part of said communication was read and laid upon the table:

OFFICE FUND COMMISSIONERS,
Indianapolis, 30th Jan. 1840.

The following resolution of the Senate has been communicated, on this morning, to the Fund Commissioners:

Resolved, That the attention of the Board of Fund Commissioners be again respectfully called to the resolution of the Senate of the 2d instant, calling for information as to what amount of interest has been paid upon state bonds sold for the prosecution of the Wabash and Erie canal and the general system of internal improvement during each respective year, since the first state bonds were sold, &c., the said board in their reply to the above resolution having failed to give the necessary information in relation to the interest paid, &c. for any year prior to 1835.

The undersigned, having examined the records of the office, finds his former report upon this subject correct; but it may be better understood by making the following explanation: The first state bonds sold were one hundred thousand dollars to J. D. Beers in August, 1832, for the Wabash and Erie canal. The money was deposited in the Merchants' Bank, New York, on interest until wanted by the state. The interest due from the bank being about equivalent to that due upon the bonds, and as the interest upon the bonds was made payable at the bank, the bank paid the interest on the bonds when due and charged it up against the state or the Fund Commissioners, and no settlement made of the account until the time specified in the former report of the undersigned on this subject, viz: the year 1835. The undersigned would remark that the aforesaid $100,000 state bonds were the only sales made up to 1835.

Respectfully submitted,

L. H. SCOTT, F. C.

The following part of said communication was read and laid upon the table.

OFFICE FUND COMMISSIONERS,
Indianapolis, January 31, 1840.

The following resolution of the Senate of the 22d instant has been this day communicated to the board:

Resolved, That the Fund Commissioners be requested to report to the Senate at as early a day as practicable, whether any of the members of the late board of internal improvement, have failed or neglected to make settlement of their respective accounts, and if any, the name or names of such persons so failing or neglecting.

In obedience to the above, the undersigned would remark that the only members of the late board of internal improvement, whose accounts are not closed upon the books of this office, are D. H. Maxwell and J. B. Johnson, Esquires. In relation to the former, the reason why his account has not been closed is that an error of about $400 has been detected, which he was unapprized of at that time, and probably yet is,—and in regard to Mr. Johnson, his account will be closed so soon as he can find some mislaid vouchers or procure new ones.

Respectfully submitted,

L. H. SCOTT, F. C.

So much of said communication as relates to the contracts let upon the Madison and Indianapolis rail road, since the order of suspension upon the public works, &c., was laid upon the table and 100 copies ordered to be printed.

Mr. Baird of St. Joseph, from the committee on the judiciary, made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred a bill of the Senate, No. 35, entitled a bill to prohibit the amalgamation of whites and blacks, have had the same under consideration. Your committee believe, that there is no subject which, in the present state of the times, calls more loudly for legislative interposition than the one before them. It is an infraction of the laws of the Almighty, for one moment to allow the pernicious doctrine of such amalgamation to have an abiding place in our government or upon our statute books, being marked as they are by the eternal and unchangeable laws of God, the one white, the other black. Your committee believe, that any man or set of men who would encourage, counsel, aid or abet in such unholy marriages as said bill prohibits, deserve the just animadversion of every christian, philanthropist and patriot, and should be punished by severe penalties imposed by legislative enactment. It is with extreme regret that your committee have been informed that recently in this city, a negro man was by regular license from the Clerk of the Marion circuit court, married to a white woman, who as your committee are informed and believe, was of respectable parentage and of an excellent family, recently from Boston, where was, in the battle at Lexington shed some of the purest blood of our immortal revolutionary fathers; a land which has never sanctioned such unnatural alliances by any laws of hers, and your committee would fain hope that neither she, nor any other christian land ever may give them legislative sanction.

The committee regret that any recurrence should have made it necessary for the legislature of Indiana to call their attention to this alarming subject. Nevertheless, it is true, that at the present time there is no legal prohibition to these marriages, which omission, we suppose to be owing entirely to the fact, that previous legislatures supposed that no circumstances could arise to make legislation on this subject necessary, that previous legislatures have gone upon the supposition, that this subject was sufficiently controlled and regulated by public opinion, and that the rules of society in which we live, afforded a safe guaranty against such occurrences above alluded to. In this hypothesis however, we find ourselves mistaken, and we are now imperiously called upon to interfere by recommending the passage of said bill with one amendment, which is to strike the same out from the enacting clause and insert the following:

And said report was concurred in.

And on motion, the Senate adjourned.

2 o'clock P. M.

The Senate assembled.

Mr. Chamberlain, having obtained leave, introduced a bill, entitled, No. 125, a bill to repeal an act entitled an act repealing all laws and parts of laws now in force, granting premiums for wolf scalps, approved Feb. 17, 1838;

Which was read a first time and ordered to a second reading.

Mr. Baird of St. Joseph moved to suspend the rules of the Senate, and take up the bill on the subject of the amalgamation of whites and blacks, which was pending at the last adjournment;

The ayes and noes being ordered,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Angle, Arion, Baird of St. Joseph, Beard of M., Carnan, Cathcart, Chamberlain, Ewing of Cass, Green, Hackett, Kinzer, Lane, Moffatt, Nave, Smiley, Smith, Tuley and Watts—18.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Berry, Blair, Bowen, Brady, Clark, Cravens, Dobson, Hargrove, Morgan, Mount, Nickel, Riley, Stephenson, Tannehill, Thompson, Watts, Williams and Wright—19.

So said motion did not prevail.

The Senate then took up bill No. 97, to amend an act to modify the plan of carrying on the public works.

The amendment offered by Mr. Blair being under consideration, Mr. Wright proposed to amend said amendment by inserting after the words Terre-Haute, in the 6th line, the following words:

And that the surveying and locating said route shall be paid out of the funds arising from the sale of said lands;

Mr. Kennedy, from the judiciary committee, made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The judiciary committee to whom was referred a bill for the formation of the county of Van Buren, having had that subject under consideration, and a majority of said committee having reported said bill back to the Senate and recommended its indefinite postponement, on the ground that an act for that purpose would be unconstitutional, the undersigned, minority of said committee, dissenting from the opinion of the majority, report:

That in the year 1832, Wabash county was organized, embracing within her limits the exact territory which is left her by the bill providing for the formation of the county of Van Buren. At the time of the organization of Wabash county, the entire country north of her, now constituting the county Kosciusko, and all the territory within the limits of the proposed new county, was unorganized territory. Wabash at that time chose to take no more territory than the bill under consideration now leaves her. In the year Kosciusko was organized, leave ing between her southern and the northern boundary of Wabash and part of Miami, a strip of territory neither attached to, nor embraced within the limits of either of said counties, three miles in width and twenty-one miles in length.

Such was the condition in which this unattached and unorganized strip of territory remained until the session of 1838, when the laws were revised. The people residing thereon, having suffered some inconvenience from their situation, and that and the territory adjacent on the north not being sufficiently populous to justify them in forming a new county, petitioned the Legislature to attach them to the then organized counties of Wabash, Miami, and Fulton, temporarily, until an increase of population would justify them in organizing a new county, expressly stipulating, that thereby their claims to the formation of a new county at a future day, should not be prejudiced.

In pursuance of, but not in accordance with this prayer, the committee who revised the law in relation to the county boundaries, embraced this territory in the different sections of the act defining the boundaries of Wabash, Miami, and Fulton.

The bill under consideration proposes now to restrict the old counties of Wabash, Miami, and Fulton, to their original limits by taking the above named territory, together with nine miles in width off the south side of Kosciusko county, and out of that territory form the proposed new county. By this arrangement, Kosciusko county will still retain within her limits 400 square miles, and leave Wabash, Miami, and Fulton, with the exact extent of territory which they originally, in their formation, chose to embrace within their respective limits, which in each case will be less than 400 square miles.

The simple question now to be decided is, would the passage of this bill, under these circumstances be an infraction of the constitution of Indiana? The majority of the committee say it would. From which conclusion we dissent.

The 12th section of the 11th article of the constitution says, "The General Assembly, when they lay off any new county, shall not reduce the old county or counties from which the same shall be taken, to a less content than four hundred square miles." This is the clause of the constitution which the majority of the committee say would be violated by the passage of the bill. Without stopping to inquire what counties the framers of the constitution intended should be meant by the term "old counties" the minority of the committee are clearly of opinion that the present case is neither within the letter or spirit of that clause of the constitution.

The framers of the constitution no doubt intended, that no old county, which had embraced within her limits as originally organized, the number of 400 square miles or upwards, should have her original limits reduced by the formation of new counties, to less than 400 square miles. They certainly never intended that if, after the formation of a new county embracing the desired amount of territory, it should happen that by mistake or for temporary convenience, more territory than she originally desired should be attached to her, the legislature should never after detach such territory, merely for the reason that in her original constitutional organization she chose to have less than 400 square miles; as she would thereby only be reduced to her old constitutional limits.

The undersigned believe that in giving a proper construction to the constitution, they should look to the spirit as well as to the letter of that instrument. And they suppose that all will concede the point that if this act cannot be now passed without violating the letter and spirit of the constitution, that no preparatory act which this legislature could pass, would obviate that difficulty. Or in other words, that the legislature cannot do that by two acts which they are prohibited from doing by one. Let us test this principle by the one now in hand. Wabash county is bounded on the south by the great Miami Reserve. Now suppose the legislature to-day pass an act attaching a strip of ten miles wide of that unappropriated territory to the south side of Wabash county. This territory, according to the opinion of a majority of the committee, would from thenceforward become a part of Wabash county proper. And suppose to-morrow we pass this bill detaching this three mile strip from the north side of the county. Would gentlemen then say that the constitution was violated? No. It would not be then contended by them that either its spirit or letter was broken; and why? Because there would be still left with the old county of Wabash, according to their reasoning, 400 square miles.

Without adding any thing further by way of argument upon this question, the undersigned in conclusion say that as they are satisfied that this bill does not propose to reduce either the county of Wabash, Miami, or Fulton below their original limits, and that as the territory proposed to be detached from them was formerly attached to them for temporary purposes, they are satisfied that would violate neither the spirit nor letter of the constitution. As to the expediency of the measure, we have nothing to say, not having examined that question..

The Senate assembled.

The following protest was presented by Mr. Cravens:

PROTEST

To Bill of the House, No. 75, as passed in the Senate for the immediate relief of Contractors, and others engaged on the public works.

This bill proposes that the auditor of public accounts procure to be engraved two neat and appropriate plates for treasury notes of state, one of the denomination of five dollars, and one of fifty dollars; that he shall cause to be struck off on good bank note paper, an amount equal to the debt due contractors and others upon the public works, not exceeding one million five hundred thousand dollars; that if funds can be procured without the sale of additional state bonds before issuing said treasury notes by our fund commissioners then said contractors shall be paid as heretofore; that said treasury notes shall be filled up and countersigned by the auditor, and signed by the treasurer of state; that they shall be made payable to the order of him in whose favor they issue, the five dollar notes in one year from date, and the fifties in two years from date, with interest at the rate of six per centum per annum; that they shall be paid out on the lines of public works on the draft of the acting commissioner, accompanied with the certificate of the engineer, one half in notes of the denomination of five dollars, and the residue (as nearly as can be done) in notes of the denomination of fifty dollars; that the per centage of the contractor shall be retained and payment on contract withheld unless he shall agree to suspend all further operations on his contract until authorized to renew the same by the legislature or board of internal improvement; that in certain cases he shall be allowed damages; that debts due the state in the eastern cities are set apart to the redemption of the treasury notes, and they shall be receivable for taxes, the fives in 1840, and the fifties in 1841; that when returned they shall not be re-issued, but cancelled and filed away; that the auditor and fund commissioners shall give additional security; and that no person engaged in the collection or disbursement of the public revenue shall purchase them at a less sum than is expressed upon their face, under fine in any sum not less than the amount of such note.

First. We protest against the passage of this bill because we conceive it to be a direct violation of the constitution of the United States, which forbids a state "to emit bills of credit." In this opinion, the undersigned feel themselves fortified not only by reason but the highest authority, an authority no less than that great expounder of constitutional law, the supreme court of the U. S. In the case of Craig and others vs. the state of Missouri, 4 Peter's reports 439, the court was called upon to adjudicate upon the following instruments, issued under a legislative act of Missouri, and decide whether the same was a bill of credit within the meaning of the constitution:

"This certificate shall be receivable at the treasury, or any of the loan offices of the state of Missouri in the discharge of taxes, or debts due to the state in the sum of dollars, with interest for the same at the rate of two per cent. per annum from date." They were signed by the auditor and treasurer of state, issued in various amounts receivable in discharge of all taxes, or debts due to the state, and in payment of salaries of state officers.

The court in this instance determined that the certificates were designed to circulate as money, and that being issued on the credit of the state, they were repugnant to the constitution.

If the instrument to which we have above referred be unconstitutional, what room is there to doubt as to the provisions of the bill we are now considering. It proposes to issue a large amount of what the bill itself calls by the name of treasury notes, to be printed on good bank paper, made payable to the order of him in whose favor they issue, bearing an interest of six per cent. per annum, signed by the treasurer of state, and countersigned by the auditor of public accounts, and receivable for taxes.

In the case above referred to, the distinguished and much lamented chief justice Marshall defined a bill of credit to signify "a paper medium intended to circulate between individuals, and between government, and individuals for the ordinary purposes of society."

Justice McLean, in the case of Briscoe vs. the Bank of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, 11 Peters, 257, defines a bill of credit emitted by a state to be "a paper issued by the sovereign power, containing a pledge of its faith, and designed to circulate as money."

According to these definitions, what are the treasury notes by this bill authorized to be issued, but bills of credit? They are emitted by the sovereign power, and the fiscal officers of the government sign and countersign them. They are issued on the funds of the state, and the state stands pledged for their redemption. They are intended as a circulating medium, for they are to be engraved on good bank paper, and to make them current and acceptable to the people, they are to bear an interest of six per cent. per annum. If the treasury notes are to answer the purposes then of a circulating medium—if the fund belongs to the state—if the credit is that of the state—if those who issue them are the mere agents of the state, without personal interest or responsibility for their redemption, they are the money of the state. The notes are "bills of credit" emitted by the state, and fall within the constitutional denunciation.

The undersigned do not deny the right of a state to incorporate banks. Nor are they so strangely inconsistent as some who have voted for this bill, as to contend that the state cannot constitutionally borrow money, and give its acknowledgment of the debt. On the contrary, they believe that the state can execute a state bond for that purpose; issue an auditor's warrant to an officer for his salary, or a certificate for work done by a contractor on the public works. Such acts are not inhibited by the constitution, especially when it is remembered that they are not engraved on good bank paper to pass as money.

It is a rule, "that the past mischief is an essential part of the interpretation of the future remedy." A reference to the history of the times when the constitution was framed, will show what the convention intended to provide against by prohibiting the states from emitting "bills of credit." The history of the old continental currency is fresh in the recollection of all. The different states had resorted to measures to provide a currency by issuing "paper bills of credit," and at the commencement of the revolutionary war congress began her issues of the same description of currency, and continued the emissions until the amount exceeded four hundred and fifty millions. They ceased to circulate as money in 1781. Although they were afterwards bought on speculation at various prices, from four hundred dollars in paper, for one in specie, up to one thousand for one, until finally a hat full of the paper would not pay for a man's dinner. It depreciated in the hands of the honest and industrious farmer and mechanic, and brought ruin and distress upon themselves and families. If we can credit the history of those times, that currency was just such as is proposed to be issued by this bill. It was to interdict the evil in the future, that the clause of the constitution forbidding the states "to emit bills of credit" was inserted.

It is truly a matter of astonishment that those who are so tenacious in their opposition to banks; who repudiate bank paper as the greatest curse upon the country; who are so loud and so clamorous in their hostility to the issue of small bills by the banks, are found supporting the emission of a paper currency as proposed in this bill, hazarding an infraction of the constitution of the country, and willing to deluge the land with an unconstitutional and depreciated circulating medium.

Under all circumstances, the constitution should be preserved inviolate. It cannot be made yield to suit the temper of the times, nor to rise and fall with the tide of events. Notwithstanding the competition of contending parties, and the violence of opposing interests, "it remains firm and immovable, as a mountain amidst the strife of storms, or a rock in the ocean amidst the raging of the waves." It is the commission of the legislator from the people. From it he derives his powers to act. It fixes the limits of his authority, and prescribes the orbit in which he shall move. All his acts must be conformable to it, otherwise they will be absolutely void.

Mr. Baird of St. Joseph presented the following additional

PROTEST.

In addition to the constitutional objection urged to the passage of said bill, the undersigned protest against it on the grounds of expediency. It originated in the House of Representatives, composed as it is, of a majority of the friends of the present administration of the federal government. We are not disposed to dispute with them the honor of originating and supporting the measure, and with them must rest the responsibility. Neither are we inclined to condemn the act because of the source from whence it sprung, while we most fervently hope that it is not the result of caucus dictation. Of one thing however we are assured, that every other proposed relief, originating with those opposed to the powers that be, met with no favor.

In 1836 the state engaged in a general system of internal improvements. A variety of opinions existed at the time as to the policy of embarking in so extensive a system. All now agree that the public works have been injudiciously prosecuted, and all admit the necessity of a modification. With a view to such modification, the last legislature passed an act reducing the board of internal improvement from nine to three, limiting their expenditures to a million and a half per annum, and restricting their operation to a few works, which might be deemed most important, and would soonest yield a revenue to the state. In the prosecution of our public works, a debt has been contracted by the sale of state bonds of more than six millions of dollars; of this amount there is a suspended debt due to the state from eastern banks and others, (including unavailable property) $1,557,000. The change of times which has fallen not more severely upon ourselves than upon our common country; the diranged state of the money market, and the impossibility of selling American stocks in Europe, the past season, originating from causes not now necessary to be inquired into, has produced a failure on the part of the purchasers of our bonds to promptly comply with their engagements; and although our Fund Commissioners deem the state amply secured by transfers and mortgages of various kinds in this debt; yet such failure has left us without the means to pay the contractors on our public works. We suddenly found ourselves brought to a halt, with a debt due to the State Bank and the laborers upon the lines of improvement of about $1,400,000. To remedy this state of affairs, and to relieve our contractors has given prelence to the act now under consideration. What, we ask, will be the consequences of such a measure? We confess we see in it nothing less than prostration of the credit of the state, ruin of the honest and suffering contractor, and still more to the laborer and farmer.

The annual interest on our debt for internal improvement purposes amounts to $388,980 to be paid semi-annually. What then are the resources to which we can apply for the payment of this interest? We can resort:

First, To the interest on the third instalment of the sur- plus revenue, amounting to	$34,000 00
Second, To the interest on debts for canal lands sold,	22,000 00

The aggregate amount of which pays but fifty-six thousand dollars, only a small part of the interest falling due annually. What means have we to pay the residue? None but to apply the state revenue collected by directly taxing the people. The last year the whole amount of state revenue, after deducting the expenses of collection, did not much exceed three hundred thousand dollars, a sum still short of liquidating the interest on our internal improvement debt. The act however under consideration proposes to divest the state revenue from the purposes for which it was levied, and to apply it to the redemption of the treasury notes issued to the contractors. Where now is the plighted faith of the state? Where is her honor, and credit, "which is above all price?" The very means which we had to shield her from deep condemnation and disgrace is, by this act, placed out of our power. Her creditors who have advanced their millions to her, so far from having a hope of realizing the principal, now even lose the prospect of recovering from her the bare interest of the debt. It seems to the undersigned that no true patriot, no high minded Indianian whatever may be his notions of the system of internal improvement, can feel otherwise than himself debased by such a prostitution of the character of his state.

What is money compared with the loss of honor? We have seen countries drenched in blood rather than permit their national flag to be insulted with impunity. Our own beloved republic has taught the nations of Europe that she would not patiently bear dishonor, and that she regarded dollars and cents, nay human life itself as nothing when indignations were offered. Even lately we have had a case in point. France in 1831, agreed by treaty to pay to the United States five millions of dollars by way of indemnifications to our injured commerce. The late administration demanded in pretty strong terms a fulfilment of the treaty. France took offence at the message of the President to Congress on the subject of her tardiness in complying with her agreements, and as a condition to the payment of our just demands required the government of the United States to declare in writing, that it never entered into its intention to call in question the good faith of the French government. Here then was a question of etiquette between the two governments, which had well nigh involved them perhaps in a protracted war. When President Jackson declared, "that it was unnecessary for him to say that the honor of his country should never be stained by an apology from him," was he not sustained by his countrymen without distinction of party. When he asked subsequently, "does France want a degrading, servile repetition of this act in terms which she shall dictate, and which will involve an acknowledgment of her assumed right to interfere in our domestic councils? She will never obtain it. The spirit of the American people, the dignity of the Legislature, and the firm resolve of their executive government forbid it," did not every American bosom respond amen, to the determination of the old hero? Why was it so? The answer is at hand. The honor of our country was involved, and could not be yielded as the equivalent of a mere pecuniary consideration. No. We were ready to hazard millions of public treasure; we were ready to sacrifice our blood and lives to save the honor of our country. How then can we view a failure to pay the interest on our internal improvement debt according to our solemn contract in any other light than a palpable breach of public faith, and utter prostration of the character and credit of the state.

It may be said that we should be just to our domestic creditors. So we think. "The laborer is worthy of his hire," and the state should do all in her power to relieve the deserving contractor from his embarrassments. While however we sympathise with him on account of his pecuniary sufferings, and deeply regret his misfortunes, we should remember that the distress is general among our fellow citizens. The alarming diminution of the circulating medium, the diminished price of produce, the reduced wages of the honest laborer, the depreciated value of every description of property, the numerous petitions for stay and property laws lying upon our legislative tables, all give evidence of a sad reverse of times. It is not however confined to our own state. A general gloom pervades the whole country. Bankruptcy and ruin threaten every class of society. It is true we have not suffered for the want of food. We cannot arraign the bounty of Providence; the showers have fallen during the past season in the same grateful abundance; the sun has cast his vivifying influence upon the land, and the industrious farmer has reaped his usual abundance from the soil; but there is a pecuniary suffering quite as painful as that of a physical nature; a distress that plunges its victim into hopeless despair; paralyzes all useful exertion and falls with inexorable force upon the wretched family of embarrassment. Such are the difficulties which we are at present called upon to encounter; not the contractors upon our public works alone, but our fellow citizens generally. We should gladly adopt any measure that would give them relief generally. But should not attempt to accomplish even so laudable an object by a course of policy calculated to dishonor ourselves abroad. It is enough that we have these troubles to combat. It is sufficient that we have our internal disputes and political divisions to deplore. But they should not render us insensible to that cherished pride of nice and delicate honor which would forbid us to stain the reputation of our young and rising state. Other means we humbly conceive, have been proposed which would have given effectual relief, not only to our contractors, but the community at large. Dictation however, from head quarters made them obnoxious to the majority, and they were rejected.

But it may be contended that a fund will be raised out of the property and unavailable debts cast, for the redemption of the treasury notes. If so, why not at once have founded them upon those funds? Why made them redeemable in taxes at all? Would it not be better to suffer a small pecuniary loss, by an immediate sale of the Cohen property, than sacrifice our credit abroad? Have we any assurances that this property or our eastern bank stocks will sell for more five years hence than at present? In fact with the opposition manifested by the administration of the Government to all the banking institutions of the country, it is not difficult to foresee the total prostration of them all. If this opposition continue it is certain they cannot survive, and with their fall, every species of property must depreciate even to a greater extent than at present.

We are involved already in a heavy debt for internal improvement purposes as before shewn, for which we are liable to an annual interest. A portion of our public works are in a state that comparatively small additional appropriations would place them in such a condition as they would yield a revenue to the State. Would it be prudent then to stop here? While some of us prefer to cease operations rather than to progress with the system as originally contemplated, yet we hope not to be driven to either extreme, for although opposed to carrying out the system, it will be necessary to renew operations on a prudent scale so as to finish such portions of the works as are most important, and nearest completion. If an individual has commenced to erect him a house to cost ten thousand dollars, and had already expended nine thousand, would it be wise to let his superstructure go into dilapidation and ruin, when by even straining his resources a little, to procure the additional thousand, he might finish his building and thus enjoy the rents and profits of the money heretofore expended? If the people of Indiana shall so far forget what is due to their reputation, as to refuse the payment of the interest on the debt they have contracted, then it is matter of indifference what becomes of their public works, or the money heretofore lavished upon them. But if they intend honorably to meet the just demands against them, surely in such case it is of vast importance that they should do nothing to weaken their standing abroad. To leave the public works just as they are, and yet promptly meet their payments of interest is to burthen the people with heavy taxes, without any hope of relief in all time to come. This at once proves how indispensable it is that we should be jealous of our credit. A failure to meet the interest on our bonds which this bill must inevitably occasion, at least for the next season, prevents the state from making further loans, and thus she is rendered unable to renew operations. Her plighted faith once violated, no one will trust her longer. Her agents stand begging at the door of the capitalist and is only met with scorn and contempt. And although American stocks generally, cannot be sold at this time on fair terms, yet it is anticipated that the present state of affairs will not long continue. Europe has for an unusual period reposed in profound peace, and soon there will be a surplus of capital to be again invested in American bonds. If Indiana had remained true to her own interests; with her resources present and prospective, with her public spirit, with the energy and enterprise of her people, her bonds would soon be in demand.

We are already weary of pointing out the dangers with which this measure is fraught. The evils heretofore specified are sufficient to rend the heart of a true lover of his State. But the wretched consequences are not to stop here. They are to seize upon every department of Government. What have we now left with which to pay our executive and judicial officers, whose whole time must be necessarily devoted to the discharge of their official functions, and whose salary when promptly paid is scarcely sufficient to sustain themselves and families? The revenues by this bill are absorbed in treasury notes, and thus applied directly to internal improvement purposes. The faithful judicial officer on whose decisions depend in numerous instances the lives, the liberty, and the fortunes of our fellow-citizens is driven from his post for the want of support, and incompetent men (for others will not under such circumstances take office,) will be elected to supply their places.

In conclusion, we have only to remark, that the relief proposed in this bill is deceptive, and must prove ruinous to the contractor himself. The revenues of the state it is true, are pledged for the redemption of the treasury notes. Is the contractor aware, however, that there is no law at this time to authorize the collection of a revenue? That the act fixing the rate of taxation for last season has expired by its own operation? And what assurances has he that the present legislature will pass one? Does he not know that a breach of good faith in one instance opens the door for another? But suppose the Legislature should fix the rates of taxation even as high as last year? When we consider the amount to be paid contractors for work and damages, and appropriations to prevent the dilapidation of the works, it must be years before his paper can be taken up. Thus he is made the dupe to his own credulity, and the victim of the speculator.

Mr. Chamberlain, from a select committee, made the following report:

Mr. PRESIDENT—

The select committee to whom was referred so much of the Governor's message as relates to the Maine boundary question, and also the resolutions of the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, "approving of the course of the General Government and the authorities of Maine, in relation to the northeastern boundary," have had that subject under consideration, and unanimously

REPORT:

That they deem the subject one deeply involving considerations of the greatest moment, both to the interest and honor of our sister state, and to the whole American people.

Ever since the treaty of 1783, in which the boundary line between the state of Maine, and the neighboring British Provinces, was as clearly defined and as little liable to misconstruction or honest doubt, as is the boundary line between any two of the states of this union; for a period of fifty-seven years, indeed, the whole period of the political existence, of this republic, since the close of the war of the revolution, have the sanguine hopes of the American people, for the relinquishment of the preposterous claims of the British crown to a portion of the territory of one of the sovereign states of this confederacy, been in vain. Indeed, the unfounded pretensions of England seem to have gained strength by the delay, in which every effort at negotiation has resulted.

England never pretended that she had any well founded claim to this portion of our territory, till after a lapse of time, she was awakened to its importance, as affording her the only means of direct communication between New Brunswick and Canada. So fully impressed was that nation with this fact, that repeatedly, in the first efforts at negotiation on that subject, she proposed a compromise of the question, by granting us what she deemed a full equivalent for what she asked, by a cession to us of an equal extent of territory adjacent to the eastern boundary of Maine.

Encouraged however, by the success of her efforts at delay and evasion, her language of persuasion finally hardened into effrontery. What she at first asked as a boon, she at length demanded as her right. And from that period her courtesy has given place to insolence and outrage.

The soil of our country has been invaded, our public domain plundered, and our citizens imprisoned!

The authorities of Maine have been insulted, and her civil officers arrested in the lawful discharge of their duties, upon her own soil. In 1830, the officers of the Marshal of the United States, in the discharge of their duties, in taking the enumeration of the American citizens on American soil in Maine our sister state, were interrupted and expelled the territory, by the colonial banditti of England. Our fellow citizens, for daring to unfurl the stars and stripes of their country, on the free air they had been accustomed to breathe, in commemoration of their country's birth day, have been dragged from the protection of her banner and her laws, and cast into the dungeons of Frederickton; and our flag, which the world, civilized and barbarian, has elsewhere been taught to respect, has been insulted in our own land. Public and private property, have been wantonly plundered and taken from our territory. And when in pursuance of peaceable redress, and to prevent the farther perpetration of these outrages, to vindicate the rights of Maine, and the honor of the nation, the civil officers of that state were sent to remonstrate with the British provincial authorities, military and civil, then occupying the disputed territory, and to demand an explanation, again were they, and the authority under which they acted, insulted, again were American citizens dragged from their own land, and again cast into prison!

Is it consistent with the nation's honor, the rights of her citizens, or the spirit of our sires, that these outrages should longer be tamely endured?

Your committee hope that our brethren of Maine will not appeal to their fellow citizens in vain. But as yet they have only appealed to us by the justice of their cause, and the noble spirit of defiance with which they have advanced to the rescue of their own and the nation's rights and honor.

Already, to repel the actual invasion of the British, for the purpose of enforcing a most unfounded claim, to nearly a third part of the entire territory of Maine, have her citizens been in the field, and in obedience to the public will of the state, which with one voice called them to duty, and regardless of the inclemency of a northern winter, have they endured the hardships of a winter campaign.

Happily, however, deterred by the promptitude and energy of the authorities and citizens of Maine, and of the General Government, the British forces desisted for a time from further violence and outrage, retired from the territory and saved the effusion of blood.

It was hoped that the agreement stipulated between General Scott and Sir John Harvey, Governor of New Brunswick, would have been observed on the part of the British authorities, until the final adjustment of the question by the renewed negotiation which was proposed. But recent indications, your committee regret to say, but too plainly show a determination on the part of England, not only to disregard all our just claims, all amicable stipulations, and all her own professions of sincerity in the desire of a peaceable termination of the difficulty; but that she is most wantonly abusing the confidence which our government has but too readily placed in her good faith, to improve the opportunity which our amicable disposition affords her, of preparing for a more vigorous effort to enforce her pretensions.

It is but too evident, that under the pretence of surveying the country to obtain the necessary knowledge of the region over which the line of the treaty of 1783 passes in order to a more satisfactory settlement of the question, her engineers, Featherstenaugh and Mudge, in their recent survey, have in fact directed their attention as engineers exclusively to ascertaining the most suitable points for the establishment of not a line of boundary, under the treaty, but a line of ports and fortifications.

A similarly hostile intention, your committee believe, is also manifested in the recent intimations given by the Government of New Brunswick, to the citizens along the border, as to what will be their proper course of conduct, in case of hostilities.

Still more unequivocally are we admonished, by the fact, that Governor Fairfield (of Maine) in a communication to the President, of the 23d Dec. last, giving intelligence of late movements of the British troops upon the disputed territory, which intelligence the President made the subject of representation to the British minister at Washington, through the Secretary of State, who in his communication to Mr. Fox, remonstrated against "the adoption within the disputed territory, of measures of defence and precaution, in manifest violation of the understanding between the two countries."

And while your committee are still more deeply impressed with the obligations which the crisis imposes upon every American citizen, by the views entertained on this momentous subject, by Mr. Buchanan of the United States Senate, and chairman of the committee on foreign relations, they also congratulate the country, on the singular propriety with which he has pointed out our appropriate line of duty, in his recent remarks on the subject.

Mr. Buchanan says:—

"I am very apprehensive that we may have serious difficulties with the British authorities, before the close of this controversy. My earnest desire is therefore, that our proceedings may be marked with such justice, moderation and firmness as to justify us in the eyes of all mankind. A contest must be avoided if this be possible, consistent with the national honor; and then, if it should be forced upon us, we shall be a united people."

Your committee rejoice that in the assurances given by the authorities of Ohio, in their resolutions under consideration, we have an ample guarantee, that in the trying hour, if it should come upon us, so far as our brethren of that magnanimous state are concerned, "we shall be a united people." And we do not permit ourselves to doubt that in this event, Indiana will yield the palm of patriotism to none.

Your committee therefore recommend the adoption of the accompanying preamble and joint resolutions in relation to the northeastern boundary:

Said joint resolution, entitled,

No. 143, a preamble and joint resolution in relation to the northeastern boundary,

Was read a first and second times.

On motion, the Senate adjourned.

Mr. Chamberlain, from a select committee, made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The select committee to whom was referred a bill to encourage the raising of sheep and hogs, and for other purposes, which committee was instructed to amend said bill by striking out the 2d section, have had that subject under consideration, and in conformity with said instructions, report the same back to the Senate with said amendment, which is to strike out from said bill the second section thereof, which section is in these words, to-wit:

"Sec. 2. That an act entitled an act to encourage the killing of wolves, approved 10th February, 1831, be and the same is hereby revised."

But while the committee, thus comply with the instructions of the Senate, the undersigned, a majority of said committee, beg leave respectfully, but earnestly, to express the hope, that the Senate will not concur in said amendment.

Said second section revives the act of 1831, which provides for a bounty on wolf scalps, to be paid out of the state treasury, which act was repealed by the act approved Feb. 17, 1838. The undersigned believe that to encourage and promote the agricultural interest of any country, are among the prominent duties of the representative, and should be the first object of legislation. And more especially, in a state so exclusively agricultural as Indiana, the importance of this subject is urged upon our attention with peculiar force.

To the raising of hogs and sheep, as the most important branches of her agricultural interest, Indiana must ever look, as the great sources of her wealth. Pork not only always has been, and still is one of the great staples of her trade, but ever has been, still is, and probably ever will be her principal article of exportation. Next in importance, if indeed it can be regarded as in interest worthy only of secondary consideration, is that of raising sheep. And the undersigned would here impress upon the Senate the fact that that branch of what should be, and naturally are our prime sources of wealth, have languished under the influence of marked neglect.

Protection to these interests then, is among our first duties; and the most effectual protection that can be given them, is to preserve their increase from the havoc and destruction which so often blasts the hopes of the farmer in those portions of the state which are yet more or less infested by wolves, in the manner contemplated by said second section of the act under consideration. The undersigned do not deem it necessary to press the importance of this measure upon the consideration of the Senate of a state, upon every page of whose agricultural history, from its earliest settlement to the present day, its importance is so indelibly impressed. It is not yet forgotten, nay it cannot be in the oldest part of Indiana. And the undersigned believe that it would justly be regarded as an uncourteous distrust of the enlightened and liberal principles which should characterize the action of her legislators, to entertain for a moment the idea, that because in particular sections of the state, the urgency of this protection, (which when needed they have enjoyed,) has ceased in part or entirely to be felt, other portions, now struggling into existence, under all the other inconveniences incident to a comparatively new country, are to be abandoned to the ruthless depredation of beasts of prey.

Shall it be said of us, that while we profess to be anxious to foster and protect the agricultural interests of the state, by the establishment of societies for that purpose, and granting premiums for the best specimens of agricultural industry and skill; nay even, while we offer a premium in fact for the best sheep or hog, shall it be said of us that we in fact abandon the best interests of both to destruction? Which is the strongest evidence of wisdom, of prudence, and economy, to give a premium on one hog, equal in amount to the bounty which would secure the destruction of one wolf, by which not unfrequently "whole litters of pigs are destroyed?" No one who would decide in favor of the premium instead of the bounty, could expect to receive from the practical good sense of the yeomanry of Indiana, any very high consideration for his wisdom and discretion.

The undersigned, in conclusion, do not hesitate to say that the just rewards of industry, the encouragement and promotion of our agricultural interests, the high considerations of enlightened and liberal legislation, the protection which citizens of Indiana have a right to expect from her hands, and the principles of "even and exact justice to all," conspire to enforce the propriety of reviving the act proposed to be revived by said second section of the act under consideration. We therefore earnestly request the passage of said act without the proposed amendment.

ANDREW KENNEDY,
W. G. EWING,
D. M. DOBSON.

Mr. Cathcart, from the minority of the select committee on Mr. Calhoun's land bill made a report which was read,

And on motion of Mr. Kennedy, said report was laid upon the table and 1000 copies thereof ordered to be printed.

On motion of Mr. Brady, the Senate took from the table the act to amend an act entitled an act to incorporate the Indiana Mutual Fire Insurance Company."

The Senate refused to concur in the report of the judiciary committee which recommended the indefinite postponement of the bill.

And the bill was read a third time and passed.

Mr. Baird of St. Joseph, from the committee on canals and internal improvement made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The committee on canals and internal improvements to whom was referred a bill of the House of Representatives, No. 132, entitled a bill relating to certain water power therein named, and sundry instructions, have had the same under consideration and directed me to report that in the opinion of said committee the 23d section of the act entitled an act to provide for a general system of internal improvements approved January 27, 1836, affords all the guaranty for privileges such as are asked by said bill as are consistent with the interests of the state.

By an examination of the rates of leasing water power in other portions of the United States, we find the following facts.

In Ohio at large towns on the canal, the rates per run of stones, is

In Indiana, do do $150 00
150 00

In Ohio and Indiana out of the large towns, $100 to 125 00 per ann.

At Cincinnati, the state leases at 250 00 "

At Lowell, Mass. on Merrimack river, 97 80 "

At Cohoes, near Albany, New-York, 189 00 "

At Patterson, New-Jersey, 399 00 "

At Mannyunk, near Philadelphia, 555 40 "

Average of the whole, exclusive of Indiana, 248 74 "

In this state there has been leased at Indianapolis, Lawrenceburgh, Harrison, and Peru, a total amount of power equal to 30 run of stones, at $150 per year for each run. To reduce the power at other points would do injustice to those who have already leased. The board of internal improvement finds no difficulty in leasing water power at those rates as fast as the improvement of the country will justify the investment of capital. At Lafayette, the board ask $150, believing it to be as valuable there as at any other point. At Delphi, they ask $125, the site being a mile from the canal, and therefore less valuable.

The board have lately received a proposition for four run of stones at Lafayette at their minimum price of $150, and feel assured that they shall be able to dispose of a considerable amount of power at that point, as soon as they can purchase the necessary ground. The reason why the water power has not been taken is, that the country is new and has mills on Deer creek. As soon as the canal is open to the lake it will be occupied at present prices.

Your committee therefore believe, that it would be impolitic at this time to sanction the passage of such a bill as above referred to. They therefore return the same back to the Senate with all the instructions sent to them and recommend the indefinite postponement thereof.

And said report was concurred in,

And the bill indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Arion, from the committee on the State Bank, made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The majority of the committee on the State Bank to whom was referred a resolution of the Senate, relative to the payment of the several amounts due from the state to the branches of the states bank of Indiana, have had that subject under consideration and directed me to report:

That this debt seems mainly to have been accumulating during the years 1838 and 1839, from deficiencies in the payments of the Fund Commissioners, for the disbursements the Branches in the payment of contractors in the progress of the public works.

The agency of the Branches in disbursing their funds, without the loss of a dollar to the state, at their own expense and risk on the lines of the public works, 60 days prior to receiving the same at the east, has facilitated the payment of the contractors, with convenience to them and safety to the state. The delay of the state to liquidate the said debt, which is now computed at about $650,000, tends very much to cripple said Branches in extending the means of business in the state, and in meeting all the demands for the redemption of their circulation.

Therefore a majority of your committee, thinking that the earliest payment of the said debt, (after duly providing for the debt due to the contractors on the public works,) should be made by the state. To effect that object, as far as may be at this time practicable, have directed me to report the accompanying bill, and recommend its passage.

Said bill entitled,

No. 154, a bill to provide for the payment of the debt of the State to the Branches of the Bank of Indiana, was read a first and second times;

Mr. Lowe moved to amend said bill as follows: Strike out that portion of the proviso, viz: "or until the said Branches shall receive any securities which may be offered on such contract in liquidation and satisfaction to the amount thereof of the debt of the state."

The ayes and noes being ordered,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Carr, Chamberlain, Cravens, Finch, Green, Hackett, Hargrove, Kennedy, Kinzer, Lowe, Smiley, Thompson, Watts and Wright—15.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Angle, Arion, Baird of St. Joseph, Beard of M., Bell, Berry, Blair, Bowen, Brady, Carnan, Clark, Dobson, Elliott, Ewing of Cass, Ewing of Allen, Herriott, Lane, Moffatt, Morgan, Mount, Nave, Nickel, Riley, Smith, Stafford, Stephenson, Tannehill, Tuley, Watt, and Williams—30.

So said amendment did not prevail.

Mr. Armstrong moved to amend said bill as follows:

So much of any act heretofore passed, as authorizes the President of the State Bank or other person, to negotiate loans for the increase of the capital of said State Bank be, and the same is hereby repealed: Provided, That the amount of state bonds heretofore sold by the President of the State Bank for the increase of the capital may be applied to the discharge of the debt now due to said bank and branches for advances made to the state and paid out for work heretofore done on the internal improvements of the State.

Mr. Watts moved to amend said amendment as follows:

Provided further, That in no case hereafter shall the State Bank of Indiana advance money to the board of internal improvement, for the prosecution of the public works, and withdraw the same from the regular business of the country, without legislative enactment to that effect;

Which amendment to the amendment was accepted by Mr. Armstrong.

The question recurring on the adoption of said amendment,

Mr. Watts asked leave to withdraw his amendment to the amendment; which leave was not granted.

The question again being on the adoption of Mr. Armstrong's amendment,

The ayes and noes being ordered,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Carr, Cathcart, Chamberlain, Cravens, Finch, Green, Hackett, Hargrove, Kinzer, Smiley, Thompson, Watts, and Wright—14.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Angle, Arion, Baird of St. J., Beard of Montgomery, Bell, Berry, Blair, Bowen, Brady, Carnan, Clark, Dobson, Elliott, Ewing of Cass, Ewing of Allen, Herriott, Lane, Lowe, Moffatt, Morgan, Mount, Nave, Nickel, Riley, Smith, Stafford, Stephenson, Tannehill, Tuley, Watt, and Williams—31.

So said amendment did not prevail.

Mr. Watts proposed to offer the same amendment which he had offered to Mr. Armstrong's amendment, as a further amendment of said bill.

The president decided said amendment to be out of order, as being the same that had just been voted down, as attached to the amendment of Mr. Armstrong.

Mr. Cravens appealed from said decision of the president.

The question being—"Is the decision of the president correct?"

The ayes and noes being ordered,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Angle, Arion, Baird of St. Joseph, Beard of M., Bell, Berry, Blair, Carnan, Carr, Cathcart, Clark, Elliott, Ewing of Cass, Green, Herriott, Lane, Moffatt, Morgan, Mount, Nave, Riley, Smith, Stafford, Stephenson, Tannehill, Tuley, and Watt—27.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Bowen, Brady, Chamberlain, Cravens, Dobson, Ewing of Allen, Finch, Hackett, Hargrove, Kinzer, Lowe, Nickel, Smiley, Thompson, Watts, and Williams—16.

So said question was decided in the affirmative,

And the decision of the president was sustained.

Mr. Armstrong moved to amend said bill as follows:

Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed as an additional appropriation to the system of internal improvement, and that hereafter the state bank of Indiana, or any of its branches, shall not in any case advance money to the board of internal improvement for the prosecution of the public works, thereby withdrawing the same from the regular business of the country, without legislative enactment to that effect.

Mr. Ewing of Allen, moved to amend said amendment as follows:

And shall not advance money to foreign corporations;

Which amendment to the amendment was adopted.

Mr. Beard of M., moved to strike out so much of said amendment as reads as follows:

Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed as an additional appropriation to the system of internal improvement.

The ayes and noes being ordered,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Angle, Arion, Baird of St., J. Beard of M., Bell, Berry, Bowen, Brady, Carnan, Dobson, Elliott, Ewing of Allen, Herriott, Kennedy, Moffatt, Mount, Smith, Stafford, Tannehill, Watt, and Williams—21.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Armstrong, Blair, Carr, Cathcart, Chamberlain, Clark, Cravens, Ewing of Cass, Finch, Green, Hackett, Hargrove, Kinzer, Lane, Lowe, Morgan, Nave, Nickel, Riley, Smiley, Thompson, Tuley, Watts, and Wright—24.

So said words were not stricken out, and

On motion, the Senate adjourned.

The Senate assembled.

And whether there is any resolution or order on the books of said bank on the subject of the advances to the board of internal improvement by the branches of said bank, and if not, to state how it comes that so large an amount of money was advanced for internal improvement purposes, and whether the President or any of the state directors consented to said advances by the bank or any of its branches for the purposes of internal improvements, and what amount of said advances was made after the issuing of the notice by the president of the board of internal improvements, that no funds was on hand or could be obtained for the further prosecution of the public works, issued in August last; and whether there is not an order of said state board made at the February term, 1840, rescinding an order on that subject, if so, to give us a copy of the order of February term, 1840, and of the order or orders rescinded on the subject of making advances for the public works.

And said resolution as amended was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Ewing of Cass,

States; also whether or not the banks have refused to loan to our own citizens, even small sums of money, at the same time that their ability to pay was not doubted, and giving as their reason for such refusal that they had not funds on hand to loan, at the same time they were making large advances as above stated to foreign corporations, and non-resident speculators; also whether the banks have not during the late period of extraordinary pecuniary embarrassment and distress, dealt largely in exchanges, whereby they put large amounts of the circulating medium out of the reach of our own citizens, by which speculative policy they force our merchants and traders to purchase the exchange from them at their own prices.

The President laid before the Senate the following report from Milton Stapp, Esq., one of the fund commissioners:

OFFICE BOARD FUND COMMISSIONERS,
Indianapolis, February 14, 1840.

DAVID HILLIS, Esq.,
President of the Senate:

Sir—In answer to a resolution of the Senate of this date, requiring this board to "report immediately to the Senate the amount of the indebtedness of James B. Johnson, late member of the board of internal improvement, for which he has not furnished sufficient and formal vouchers to said board of fund commissioners," I beg leave to state, that the said Johnson is indebted to the amount of five thousand one hundred and fifty-eight dollars and sixty-one cents, for which he has not furnished formal vouchers.

It is however due to Mr. Johnson to state, that there is on file in this office, the engineer's certificates of work done, to cover four thousand three hundred and seventy-five dollars of this sum, and that vouchers for this last sum were furnished to the board of internal improvement for settlement, and returned for informality.

Very respectfully,

MILTON STAPP,

Fund Commissioner.

So said motion did not prevail.

Mr. Thompson, Chairman of the judiciary committee, made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

The judiciary committee to whom was referred a bill of the Senate No. 137, entitled a bill requiring the collection of the remaining state revenue of Cass county, for 1839, have taken the subject under consideration, and a majority of the committee have instructed me to report it without amendment, and recommend its indefinite postponement; believing as they declare, that a bill of its provisions cannot originate in the Senate, and that it would be a violation of the 19th Section of the 3d article of the constitution of this state, which declares that all bills for raising the revenue, shall originate in the House of Representatives, but that the Senate may amend or reject, as in other bills.

That any provision of the bill is in contravention is not believed or admitted by the minority; therefore, Messrs. Angle, Wright, Kennedy, Nave, Armstrong, and Thompson, dissent from the report, inasmuch as they cannot perceive that the intent of the bill is to raise the revenue, but merely to enforce the collection of the revenue which was raised and ordered to be collected by an act of last session, and which act was disregarded by the authorities of Cass county, the object of the present bill is merely to enforce the observance of that act, which raised and ordered 30 cents per hundred dollars worth of property to be collected. The minority cannot conceive that the purport of the bill will be, by the most far-fetched construction, construed into a violation of the constitution. It is not adding to or increasing the revenue, but ordering that which has by previous enactment been raised, levied or assessed, to be collected; therefore, they protest against the concurrence in the report of the majority.

Messrs. Baird of St. Joseph and Cravens, were opposed to the indefinite postponement of said bill, but thought it might better originate in the House of Representatives, or be placed upon the revenue bill as an amendment, when the same shall be reported from the House, so that the whole revenue law may be in the same bill.

Mr. Lane moved that said report and bill be laid upon the table.

The ayes and noes being ordered,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Brady, Carr, Cathcart, Chamberlain, Clark, Dobson, Ewing of Cass, Green, Hackett, Kinzer, Lane, Nave, Tuley and Wright—14.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Angle, Arion, Armstrong, Beard of M., Bell, Berry, Blair, Carnan, Cravens, Elliott, Hargrove, Herriott, Kennedy, Lowe, Moffatt, Morgan, Mount, Nickel, Riley, Smith, Stafford, Stephenson, Tannehill, Thompson, Watt, Watts, and Williams—27.

So said report and bill were not laid upon the table.

The question recurring on concurring in the report of the committee as made by the majority.

The ayes and noes being ordered,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Cathcart, Clark, Ewing of Cass, Hackett, and Lane—5.

Those who voted in the negative were,

Messrs. Angle, Arion, Armstrong, Beard of Montgomery, Bell, Berry, Blair, Brady, Carnan, Carr, Chamberlain, Cravens, Dobson, Elliott, Green, Hargrove, Herriott, Kennedy, Kinzer, Lowe, Morgan, Mount, Nave, Nickel, Riley, Smith, Stafford, Stephenson, Tannehill, Thompson, Tuley, Watt, Watts, Williams, and Wright—35.

So said report was not concurred in.

The ayes and noes being ordered,

Those who voted in the affirmative were,

Messrs. Cathcart, Clark, Ewing of Cass, Hackett, and Lane—5.

AFFAIRS OF THE COMPANY.

The assessment ordered October 9, 1838, amounted to $6,470 52, of which the sum of $6,162 32 has been paid to the Treasurer. The balance $308 20 is due from agents and on receipts yet in the office, and will probably be collected in a short time. As the assessment ordered Sept. 30, 1839, was made payable on the day of the annual meeting, at which time the annual report is made, the board must necessarily defer remarks in relation thereto until the next meeting of the company. As the collection of an assessment is the correct test of the ability of a mutual office to meet its liabilities, or the evidence of its weakness, the board cannot otherwise than congratulate the members on the strength and popularity of the company as indicated by the willing promptness in which the first assessment was met by them. In common with all institutions which require the use of considerable sums of money, this office may not be able to effect loans on its securities, and may be obliged to ask indulgence from members suffering losses by fire, in consequence of the embarrassments of the times; but of its ability to make indemnity within the year there can be no doubt. During the three years in which it has issued policies, every loss has been paid by the office at the expiration of the time prescribed by the charter, or within three months from the time of the loss.

The board have complied with the requirements of the 5th section of the charter, by procuring for the use of the company two rooms in the new State Bank building, furnished with a fire proof vault, the whole being "suitable for the transaction of business, and for the preservation of the funds and other property belonging to said company from destruction by reason or means of fire." As these rooms may be occupied by the company several years, the board will not of course, subject the members to expense for the erection of a fire proof building as contemplated by the charter.

The utility of the office will depend upon its ability to make prompt indemnity to sufferers, and in order that this may be done by the board, they most earnestly request members to a willing and seasonable discharge of their liabilities to the office. Every member who unreasonably neglects to pay his assessments, thereby aids in embarrassing the business of the office and depriving himself of that indemnity which he expects in case of suffering loss by fire. It is confidently hoped, then, that the board will have no occasion for complaint on account of the negligence of members.

When members alienate their policies by sale of the assured property it is their duty to surrender the policies to be cancelled; and until such surrender they will be held liable for assessments. The fifteenth section of the charter points out the course to be pursued in such cases, to which the particular attention of every member is requested.

In behalf of the Board of Directors,
JAMES BLAKE, Pres't.

TUESDAY MORNING, FEB. 18.

The Senate assembled.

The President laid before the Senate two communications from the President of the State Bank:

The following communication on the subject of loans to foreign corporations was read:

TO THE SENATE—

In answer to your resolution of the 14th, "requesting the President of the State Bank to communicate information as to money furnished and advanced to foreign corporations and non-resident speculators, while it was refused to citizens of this state; and as to the dealing of the branches in bills of exchange," the undersigned begs leave to report: That he has no means but through the officers of the branches to obtain the precise information requested by the Senate. The reports of the branches twice a month state only in general terms the situation of their affairs; such as the amount of their bills of exchange and notes discounted, &c., but they do not specify for whom their discounts are made. Once every six months however, there is an examination of each branch made on behalf of the state board. The examiners usually report amongst other things the names of the payors of all notes and bills discounted. From their reports on file it does not appear that any money has been advanced by any of the branches for the benefit or on account of a foreign corporation; nor did the undersigned in any of his examinations ever hear of any advance of the kind, though such an advance may have been made in the interval between the examinations, if so, it must have been on but short credit, and the amount small, for no loan over $5,000 can be made to corporations without the consent of the state board, and this was never asked in favor of a foreign corporation. It is possible moreover, that individuals may have drawn on other persons having the guarantee of a corporation that payment should be punctually made, and their bills as well as those of other foreigners well secured, have no doubt been bought to some extent in all the branches: yet in looking over the names of the persons for whom bills have been discounted, when the examination was made by him in the northern branches this fall, and also when it was made by Mr. Morrison last spring, the undersigned can see but few if any names of foreigners or persons likely to be connected with foreign corporations.

None of the Branches, it is believed, have within the last eighteen months made any loans or discounted any bills of exchange for foreigners, which can have lessened the amount of loans that might have been made in the district. Were there to be no bills of exchange discounted, and were not great pains taken to provide funds at points to which business tends, for the accommodation of merchants and the collectors of foreign debts, the discounts of the branches must soon of necessity be much lower in amount than that of the present discounted notes alone.

Two important objects are gained by the payment of bills of exchange at distant points. The money to pay them is not taken from the currency here, and the withdrawal of the circulating medium of our state is prevented by providing funds at points to which the current of business requires them to be transferred. The bills of exchange in all the branches for the last eighteen months have fluctuated from $300,000 to $1,200,000, averaging less than $800,000, while the notes discounted, have during that time been mostly about $3,200,000, so that the bills of exchange have been less than one-fifth of the whole discounts of the bank. The bills of exchange are now $1,044,000, and this proportion is not considered large, and in the present situation of the branches and their prospects for future business, is probably smaller than it should be. The money obtained on these bills has been circulated among the people to buy their produce, and the bills will be paid when the produce is sold. When bills of exchange are bought of the shipper of produce, or to aid real business as they always should be, they give great facilities to the citizens interested in having a regular circulating medium, and they provide exchange for merchants and traders at cheaper rates than specie can be transported, or funds to answer their objects otherwise procured. Were this not the case recourse would be had to other sources.

The charges of the branches for exchange, whether it is bought or sold must correspond with the customary rates, and that this should not be unreasonable has been a subject to which the state board has given their attention. So uncertain however, for some time past has been the value of funds to be paid at a future day, at distant points, that it has often been difficult to ascertain what would be just in this respect.

If this communication should be less satisfactory than may be expected, as to some of the matters mentioned in the resolution, it will be gratifying to the undersigned to have Senators look at the lists of names for which discounts have been made in the branches, they may judge better as to any connections with foreigners or foreign corporations than he is able to do from the examination he has made.

Respectfully submitted,

State Bank, Feb. 17, 1840.

So said message was not laid upon the table.

The question recurring on insisting on the amendment of the Senate.

The ayes and noes being ordered,

So said motion did not prevail.

Mr. Bowen moved that the Senate recede from their said amendment; which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ewing of Allen, laid before the Senate the following communication from the Governor of Ohio, to the Legislature of said State:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, OHIO,

Columbus, January 31, 1840.

To the Honorable General Assembly of Ohio:

I have received from his Excellency the Governor of the State of Indiana, a joint resolution of the General Assembly of that State, approved on the 22d instant, making it the duty of the Chief Engineer of the State, to visit the seat of Government of Ohio, for the purpose, among other things, of urging upon your consideration the importance and necessity of a speedy completion of the Wabash and Erie canal, from the Indiana state line to the Maumee bay.

I have also received a communication from J. L. Williams, Esq., Chief Engineer of the State of Indiana, who has visited this city, in obedience to the above resolution, setting forth the importance to the State of Indiana, of the speedy completion of the above work by the State of Ohio. The above named resolution, together with the communication from Mr. Williams, are herewith transmitted to your honorable body; and your early attention is respectfully invited to the favorable consideration of the same.

Having but one copy of each of the above documents, they are transmitted to the House of Representatives.

I am, with great respect,

Your obedient servant,

WILSON SHANNON.

REPORT.

COLUMBUS, January 30, 1840.

To his Excellency, WILSON SHANNON:—

Sir:—The legislature of Indiana by a joint resolution, approved on the 22d inst., directed the undersigned to visit the seat of Government of Ohio, for the purpose of urging upon the consideration of the Legislature, now in session, the importance and necessity of a speedy completion of the Wabash and Erie Canal, from the Indiana State line to the Maumee bay.

This duty, it is presumed, can be most appropriately and acceptably discharged, by submitting in this form, for the consideration of the executive and of the General Assembly, a statement, representing truly the progress made by Indiana in the construction of her division of the canal; the probable time of its completion; the extent to which the interests of her citizens are involved in the opening of this communication to Lake Erie, and the importance and probable amount of her commerce which will pass through this channel to a northern market.

Availing himself of the opportunity which has been afforded, through the courtesy of the Executive, the undersigned has the honor of addressing this communication to your Excellency, as the authorized organ of correspondence with the legislature.

It is deemed unnecessary to refer to the circumstances connected with the early history of this improvement, or to its great importance to the country at large, as a general thoroughfare—these considerations being now so fully understood and appreciated. Suffice it to remark that from its peculiar route and direction with respect to the boundary line of Ohio and Indiana, this canal could be constructed only through the mutual effort and co-operation of both States. From this peculiar circumstance has arisen the necessity of a frequent interchange of views and wishes between the legislative authorities of the two States, of which the resolution under which I have the honor to act, is one instance.

By the acceptance of the grant of land from the United States, the States placed themselves under obligations to construct the canal—the obligation being first to their own citizens, mutually, and secondly, to the nation at large, from whose common property, the public lands, so large a share of the expense was contributed.

In fulfilment of her part of this obligation, Indiana, as she was required to do by the terms of the grant, commenced the canal on the first of March, 1832; and as early as the fourth of July 1835, nearly five years since, the navigation of thirty-two miles was commenced, and has since that period been regularly maintained during the season of navigation. By the close of the year 1837, the work had so far progressed as to add fifty miles to the length of this navigation, and during the past year a further portion of eight miles was opened, making at the present time, a total navigation of ninety miles, extending from Fort Wayne on the Maumee to Georgetown on the Wabash. The performance of labor to the value of $134,000, consisting chiefly of the closing up of nearly finished contracts which will unquestionably be accomplished by October next, will complete the canal from the State line to Lafayette, opening at once a navigation one hundred and forty-four miles in length, connecting with the steamboat navigation of the Wabash, and extending into a well improved and very productive portion of the State. It should be observed, however, that the unfinished work east of Fort Wayne can readily be finished by first June next, which will open a navigation, at that earlier date, of one hundred and ten miles, extending west from the Ohio State line.

The expenditures made by Indiana, including the work done up to the present date, amounts to $2,138,000: to which add the cost of finishing the canal, to wit: $134,000, and it will give $2,272,000, as the total investment, which must remain wholly unproductive as to revenue, and measurably useless to the community, until an outlet to Lake Erie shall have been opened through the State of Ohio.

In addition to the interest on the capital invested in the canal, which at six per cent. would amount to $136,320 annually, the citizens of Indiana sustain a further inconvenience and loss, in the want of a communication to a northern market, to which I beg to refer, in general terms. During the year 1833, the Wabash river, which now forms the only channel of conveyance for the surplus products of this valley, did not rise sufficiently to render it navigable. The crop of that year, after having been loaded into flat boats, was to a great extent, necessarily removed therefrom at a late period in the season, and taken by land carriage to such markets as could be found, at a great sacrifice of its value. Although an entire failure of the Wabash navigation, such as is here noticed, is not a frequent occurrence, yet the passage of boats is often delayed to a period in the season so late as to lessen materially the value of the exports in the New Orleans market. The amount of the loss thus sustained, for the want of a certain navigation, would, from its nature, be difficult to estimate, with any degree of certainty. Some idea of it may however be formed by considering the large amount of property that is annually subjected to this hazard. It has been stated by those most competent to form an estimate, that during one season, 150,000 hogs have been packed at the several points on the Wabash between Logansport and Vincennes. The item of pork alone would, therefore, exceed in value a million of dollars annually, to say nothing of the various articles of surplus production besides, which are now forced to seek a market through this river, but the value of which the undersigned has no means of estimating with certainty. A further inconvenience and expense is sustained by this section of country in procuring the necessary supplies of merchandize, salt, &c. During the summer and fall seasons, when the Wabash and Ohio rivers are low, merchandize is necessarily brought by wagons from the south end of Lake Michigan to the towns on the Wabash, as far down as Terre-Haute, a distance of one hundred to one hundred and fifty miles.

The undersigned would here beg leave to submit to the General Assembly an approximate estimate of the trade which will pass through the Ohio division of the canal, soon after its completion, from the country lying west of the State line.

That the capability of the Wabash Valley, for furnishing transportation, by means of its production and consumption, is equal to that of any other agricultural district of the west, with the same population, will probably not be questioned. For this trade the Wabash and Erie canal will form the natural, and in fact the only channel, so far as a northern market may be sought. From the first settlement of this valley, its citizens have anticipated the opening of this canal at no remote period, for which expectation they, perhaps, had sufficient grounds in the donation of land for this object, and the acceptance of this donation, with all its requirements, by the States. They have neither sought nor desired any other connection with Lake Erie, but on the contrary have located and constructed their common roads, to say nothing of their lateral canals and rail roads, some of which have been commenced, so as to concentrate their trade on this canal, as the main trunk. From this circumstance as well as from the directness of the route, the Wabash and Erie canal will not be subjected to a competition with other established channels of trade, as is often the case on the opening of a new work, but from the first will command the undivided commerce and intercourse between the Wabash country and the northern markets.

The district for which this canal will form the main channel of trade, may be described, as extending from the State line as far down the Wabash as the Grand Rapids, a distance of three hundred miles. The boundaries of the district on the south and south-east may be defined by a line pursuing generally the valley of the West fork of White river to the east line of the State, embracing nearly one-third of the surface between the Wabash and the Ohio rivers; and on the north and west by a line diverging from the Grand Rapids and extending about one-third the distance to the Illinois river on the west, and Lake Michigan on the north. The limits of this district, it will be perceived, are marked out with due reference to the influence of the Ohio navigation on the south, and of the Illinois river and Lake Michigan on the west and north, as rival channels of commerce. The district thus described contains a surface equal to thirty-eight counties in Indiana, and nearly nine counties in Illinois, including an aggregate area of 22,000 square miles. The population of this district in 1839, as nearly as can be estimated from official reports of the State officers, was about 270,000, averaging $12\frac{1}{2}$ persons per square mile. Allowing for the increase of population at the usual rates in similar districts, the average by 1841, (the time when it is supposed the navigation might be opened to the Lake,) will be increased to about 15 per square mile.

The tonnage which the trade of this district will furnish for transportation, can be more accurately computed by comparison with another agricultural district of a given extent, where the tonnage has been carefully ascertained. Fortunately for this investigation, observations of this nature have been made on the trade of a portion of the Miami valley, with a degree of care which entitles the result to confidence as a standard of comparison.

The total trade of the Miami canal, in both directions, for the year 1838, as shown by the collector's books, amounted to 54,000 tons. The superintending engineer of the Miami canal in 1838 (known to be a competent and accurate officer) ascertained by investigation and inquiry, that this tonnage was furnished from a total extent of country of about 1,612 square miles. By reference to official documents, it has been ascertained that the population of this district, in 1838, averaged about 60 persons per square mile.

Taking this result as the basis, and estimating therefrom the trade of the Wabash and Erie canal, keeping in view the proportion between the two districts, both in their extent and their average population, we have 184,244 tons as the total trade of the Wabash district. This district, however, having been more recently settled than the Miami district, there is probably a smaller proportion of the population engaged in producing. This circumstance will diminish the exports, but can have no material effect upon the imports. A deduction of 18 or 20 per cent. will probably account for any difference in the production of the two districts, arising from this cause, which will leave about 150,000 tons as the aggregate trade of the Wabash district.

That the whole trade of this district will pass through the Wabash and Erie canal, is not to be supposed. The pork, and perhaps other agricultural products of the lower part of the district, where the White river as well as the Wabash, furnishes a comparatively good flat boat navigation in the spring, will, during favorable seasons, take this mode of conveyance by the Mississippi route, to a southern market. Heavy groceries likewise, will still be brought into this district from the south by the steam boat navigation of the Wabash during some seasons of the year. But as an offset, in part, to this diversion of the trade, it may safely be assumed, that not only the whole of the area, included in this estimate, but a considerable extent of country beyond its limits, will be wholly supplied with New York salt, through the canal and the down stream navigation of the Wabash river. The extent to which this article has displaced the Kenhawa salt in the Scioto valley, by the opening of the Ohio canal, warrants this expectation. From a careful consideration of the whole subject, comparing the position of the Wabash valley with that of the Scioto valley, and having some reference to the actual division of the trade of the latter, between the northern and southern markets, the undersigned feels warranted in the conclusion, that as much as two-thirds of the whole tonnage of the Wabash district, will pass through the Wabash and Erie canal. This will give 100,000 tons annually, as the probable amount of trade which will pass through the whole length of the Ohio division of the canal, from the states lying west of Ohio, so soon as the work can be put in full operation; which trade will increase annually with the improvement of the country.

By the terms of the compact between the states, the State of Ohio is authorized to levy upon the commerce of Indiana, the same toll that is charged on her other principal canals. The existing rates of toll on the Miami canal, taking the various articles of transportation paying different rates, in the proportion reported for 1839, amount, to an average for the whole transportation, of two cents per ton per mile. Each ton of Indiana trade passing through the Ohio division of the Wabash and Erie canal, 87.27 miles in length, would therefore pay to the state of Ohio one dollar and seventy-five cents, which on the trade of 100,000 tons, would yield a total revenue of $175,000. Deducting $35,000 for repairs, collection of tolls, &c., equal to $400 per mile, will leave a nett revenue of $140,000 from the trade of Indiana and Illinois alone, which is equal, independent of the value of the lands, to seven per cent. on the whole cost of the Ohio division, taking it at $2,000,000, as estimated by the Ohio Board of public works, in their annual report of December 30, 1839.

To the foregoing estimates should be added the tolls to be derived from the trade, to be collected by the canal from the territory of Ohio through which it passes, and particularly from the increased business which will ultimately be thrown upon it by the completion of the Miami canal, the amount of which is of course better known to the members of the legislature, than it can be to an individual residing without the limits of the state. The undersigned has purposely refrained from presenting estimates of business to be derived from any other district than that which has come under his notice in the discharge of his duties, in the service of Indiana.

In the preceding computations, the undersigned has considered the canal as extending no further down the Wabash than Lafayette. It should be observed, however, that the State of Indiana, under the act of Congress of March 2, 1827, has completed the selection of lands for the extension of the canal to Terre Haute, an additional distance of ninety miles; that the Attorney General of the United States has decided the state to be entitled to these lands, and the confirmation of the selections by Congress, which is expected during the present session, will bind the State of Indiana to complete this extension of the canal by the year 1847, which will have the effect to divert a greater proportion of the Indiana trade from the southern to the northern route.

Nor has any reference been had in the estimates presented, to the lateral canals, connecting with the Wabash and Erie canal, and extending as branches to the main trunk, into other portions of the state, which have been commenced by Indiana, and which, at a future day, will still further enlarge the commerce of the main line.

From the particular position of the eastern section of the Wabash and Erie canal, as the out-let for other improvements, and the great extent of country for whose commerce it must be the channel, a higher rank in public estimation has generally been assigned it, in respect to its revenue, than to most other canals of the country. A more particular investigation of the subject, the results of which have here been presented, sustains this common sentiment, formed merely from general observation.

Although the undersigned has considered it his duty to ascertain as nearly as practicable, the future revenue of the canal, yet he would here take occasion to remark, that this consideration is not presented as being necessary to secure for the object in view, the favorable action of the authorities of Ohio. Under the peculiar relations existing between the two states, in reference to this work, he would feel safe in resting the case upon other grounds. Even if the canal promised to be far less productive than has been supposed, still from the character of the people of Ohio, the undersigned cannot doubt that considerations of a different nature, growing out of the mutual obligations of the states; of their identity of interest and policy; of public spirit, justice and comity, would yet secure a favorable response from that state. It is, however, a source of gratification to the legislature and people of Indiana, to feel assured of the fact, rendered odious by the foregoing estimate, that, while the state thus solicits, at the hands of the General Assembly of Ohio, the speedy completion of the work, as essential to her own prosperity, she is only urging a measure that must be mutually beneficial; that she is asking of Ohio nothing which can result in an unprofitable investment of her funds—nothing but will, it is presumed, be deemed reasonable and just.

With the highest regard,

Your Excellency's obed't servant,

J. L. WILLIAMS.

A Joint Resolution in relation to operations on the Wabash and Erie Canal, to secure the speedy completion thereof, and for other purposes:

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, That it shall be the duty of the Chief Engineer of the State, if his services can be dispensed with in the duties of his office, if not, then the President of the Board of Internal Improvement or one of the members thereof, to proceed immediately to the seat of government of the State of Ohio, and in a respectful manner, to urge upon the consideration of the members of the legislature of that state, the necessity of a speedy completion of the Wabash and Erie canal, from the Indiana state line to the Maumee bay, in compliance with the compacts heretofore made between the two states in relation thereto, wherein Indiana yielded to Ohio a quantity of valuable lands, and amply sufficient when sold and realized, to construct said portion of said canal. And to make known the great losses and injuries to be sustained by Indiana, should Ohio longer continue to delay the completion of her portion thereof. And further, to represent the injustice done to Indiana, by constructing that part of said canal lying between the Auglaize river and the Indiana line, narrower than it is constructed from said line to Fort Wayne, by Indiana, and narrower than it is constructed from said Auglaize river to Lake Erie; which portion is thus far much neglected, and, from present appearances will not be completed so soon by two or three years, as the balance thereof, to the Lake, will be finished in Ohio. And to represent that 150 miles of this canal in Indiana, now nearly completed, and costing nearly two millions of dollars, will be comparatively unproductive and valueless, until its connexion with Lake Erie is consummated by Ohio finishing her portion thereof.

Be it resolved, That His Excellency the Governor, be requested to forward a copy of the foregoing joint resolution to His Excellency the Governor of Ohio, with the request that he may lay the same before the legislature of that state, and solicit their co-operation in effecting, in both states, a speedy completion of so immensely important a thoroughfare as that of the Wabash and Erie canal.

FRIDAY MORNING, FEB. 21.

The Senate assembled.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the President of the State University at Bloomington;

Which was read and laid upon the table.

To the General Assembly of the State of Indiana:

In compliance with a resolution, adopted by the board of trustees of Indiana University, at the Sept. session thereof in the year 1839, directing the President of the board to memorialize the legislature on behalf of the board, for an appropriation of the saline funds to the endowment of a separate professorship in Indiana University for the education of teachers of common schools in Indiana, the undersigned respectfully presents the following memorial:

By the second proposition of the 6th section of an act of Congress, approved April 19, 1816, entitled "an act to enable the people of the Indiana Territory to form a constitution and state government and for the admission of such state into the Union on equal footing with the original states," it is provided that all the salt springs within the said territory, and the lands reserved for the use of the same, together with such other lands as may by the President of the U. States be deemed necessary and proper for the working of the said salt springs not exceeding in the whole the quantity contained in thirty six entire sections, shall be granted to the said state, for the use of the people of said state, and the same to be used, under such terms, conditions and regulations as the legislature of the said state shall direct; and whereas, Congress did subsequently by an act of said body, approved July 3, 1832, authorize the legislature of the said state, to dispose of said lands and apply the proceeds thereof, to the purposes of education in said state; and whereas, the legislature of this state, did by an act, approved February 2, 1833, appoint commissioners, clothed with full authority and power to sell said land with a view to raise funds for the purposes of education, in accordance with the true meaning and spirit of the acts of Congress, and the clear and unequivocal intention of the original donors; and whereas, a considerable fund, (now amounting to nearly twenty thousand dollars, as appears by the report of the Treasurer of State) has been raised by the sale of said lands, and the interest accruing on the money since said sale, and which now is and has for years past been lying dormant, so far as regards the promotion of the cause of education, it is deemed proper and expedient by the board of trustees of Indiana University, to call the attention of the legislature to this important subject, and to earnestly request them to appropriate the money arising from the sales of said lands to the endowment of a permanent and separate professorship in said institution, for the education, free of tuition fee, a competent number of teachers of common schools, said professorship to be filled by the board of trustees of the University, yet to be under the direction and control of the President of the University, as the other professorships are now (to a certain extent.) The board feel confident that in making this recommendation, they are representing the best interests of the people of Indiana, and more especially the rising generation of children, those who are to be our successors as citizens and officers; those who are to assume upon themselves the weighty responsibilities of the faithful management of the destinies of the greatest and happiest nation on the face of the globe. They deem it unnecessary to say to a body so enlightened as the legislature of Indiana, that upon the virtue and intelligence of the people, depend more than on any other cause, the permanency and stability of our happy institutions; that the foundation of that virtue and intelligence are laid, first, and the deepest in the common schools of our country; it is there the minds of our youth are first moulded and fashioned. It is in the primary schools of the country where the first and most lasting impressions are made upon the tender mind for weal or for woe. How important then is it that the teachers of common schools, should be men of well cultivated minds, men whose morals are pure and unsullied; and what is so apt to accomplish both of those very important objects so effectually, as to educate them well, improve their minds, and their morals will, to a great extent, necessarily be good. It is certainly very important to the legislature, that some action should be had upon this subject. Some steps should be taken, and that speedily, for the accomplishment of that object, which of all others, in a free and enlightened community is most to be desired. Your honorable body have directed your attention with much laudable zeal, to the improvement of our natural resources and our physical condition, and the board would respectfully suggest the propriety of prompt and energetic action upon this important subject; indeed the board would respectfully suggest to your honorable body, that the true meaning and spirit of the acts of Congress, and our state legislature, have been violated by the non-action of the legislature heretofore in regard to this fund, and that the undoubted intention and laudable exertions of the original donors of this fund, have been neglected and condemned by a failure of a previous legislature to act upon this matter. The board would further suggest the propriety as an auxiliary in carrying out this great enterprise, to wit: the improvement of the condition of our common schools, the appointment of an officer similar to that of a superintendent of common schools for the state. The plan has been adopted in several of the states of this union. Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, and the young state of Michigan, with others, have all engaged successfully in this grand project. Shall Indiana longer remain indifferent to this important subject? Will she not expend a portion of her energies in the improvement of the intellectual powers of her citizens? The board confidently entertain the opinion that she will. We know the patriotism that actuates her legislators, will impel them to speedy and definite action upon this subject. The board will not attempt to conceal the fact, that a contrariety of opinion exists in other states as to the most effectual and speedy plan of bringing about this great result, to wit: the improvement of the condition of our common schools by the education of teachers, yet they cannot forbear an opinion of their settled conviction, as to the propriety of the plan heretofore pointed out. The fact that the associations of those engaged in this department of science, would be with others whose exclusive attention is directed to the acquisition of knowledge would operate upon them as a great incentive to persevere in the laudable and interesting vocation in which they were embarked. It would be the mingling together of congenial minds, for their mutual improvement.

In addition to this the pleasure to be derived from the literary societies of Indiana University, their extensive library of choice books of science and history, the information to be derived incidentally (if the expression is allowed) from the intercourse with her professors, and the university exhibitions, and lastly, but not least, the advantages derivable from the University library itself, to the lover of, and seeker after science are incalculable. Here we have extensive buildings, and every other necessary preparation for the accommodation of a school of that character. Many other important advantages might here be mentioned (were it necessary) and the time of the undersigned would permit of their enumeration. In conclusion, if the wisdom of the legislature of Indiana, should impel them to adopt a plan different from the one suggested in this imperfect memorial, the board will still have left to them the pleasing reflection, that indirectly at least, they may have been instrumental in effecting some good to the community. Believing, as they most confidently do, that some such plan as has been proposed, must and soon will be adopted, and that the adoption of that plan will conduce greatly to the peace and harmony of our growing community and to the prosperity of our beloved institutions.

Mr. Arion, from the committee on the State Bank, made the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—

A majority of the committee on the State Bank to whom was referred the several matters connected with that institution, have had the same under consideration, as far as other business would permit, and have examined the reports of the Bank and Branches, and also that of the commissioners of the sinking fund, made to the Legislature in accordance with the provisions of the charter, and respectfully beg leave to report, that the condition of the Bank and Branches generally is such as to entitle them to the confidence of the Senate and the public. All the debts, with but very few exceptions, are reported to be secure. Losses that have yet been ascertained, appear to have been only five or six thousand dollars. The paper of the Bank, is a better and more uniform circulating medium than can be found to the same amount in any of the adjoining states; and the clear profits of the state up to this time on its stock, is rising five hundred thousand dollars, after paying all interest and expenses of every description.

The plan on which the State Bank of Indiana was founded, appears to be well adapted to safety, profit, and the accommodation of the public. As the private stockholders are first responsible, so individual enterprise takes the lead in the management, while the president and directors appointed by the state, will be disposed to look after its interests, and will feel a laudable pride that the Bank shall be so managed as to conciliate popular favor. That most of the branches have succeeded in this object, to a considerable extent, your committee are induced to believe; and there are but few portions of the state in which the Bank is not regarded with pride by its citizens. It is a matter of regret, that in some of the Branch districts, there is only a small number of persons who wish to hold bank stock, merely for the dividends. If the case were different, if one set of men possessed the power to decide upon the loans made to others, according to their merits and just claims, though those who were refused would not always be satisfied, yet the public in general would care very little for their complaints. As from the great demand for capital in a new country, for other investments there has not yet been in the state a sufficient number of the stockholders most to be desired. The next best are those who only wish to borrow for occasional business. Such are a majority of the private stockholders in our banks. By taking stock they did not expect to preclude themselves from borrowing temporarily, yet they pay punctually and ask no favors. Another class of stockholders are active business men, desirous of extensive accommodations from the Bank to aid their operations; yet they expect to pay as other borrowers. They hold only a few shares of stock, more for the purpose of keeping up an acquaintance with the directors and to show an interest in the Bank, than for the dividends. In addition to these, there are no doubt in some of the Branches, a few stockholders who hope to draw a dividend of ten per cent., while they keep out the amount of their stock at six. So that they really receive profits to which they never contributed. The loans to these various kinds of stockholders, may amount to a large sum, while very few of them can be said to be specially favored.

While the paper of the Bank circulated without an effort, and the United States deposits were on hand, long loans were sometimes permitted, because other good borrowers did not apply; and sometimes no doubt, as matters of favor. Yet for the last two years, few loans have been willingly continued for long periods in the same hands, by any of the borrowers. When it has been done, either from choice or necessity, the consequence has been that the operations of these have been restricted accordingly. In the proceedings of the State Board may be seen various resolutions, some of them binding on the Branches, and others merely advisory, which show that that board has constantly kept in view the interest of the Bank, in connexion with the good of the community. A few of these resolutions are annexed.

It may be supposed by some that the directors of the State Bank are vested with sufficient power to rectify all the mistakes, and correct all improper proceedings that take place in the Branches. This, however, is not the case, for much is left to the discretion of the Branches, and no control reserved to the state board. The directors of the Branches loan to such customers as they please, whether to merchants, stockholders or to themselves; but their business must be safe and prudent, and the loans to directors must be on the same terms as to others. When the charter authorizes the State Board to interfere, they seem to have done so in such way as to promise the correction of errors.

The question will perhaps be asked, whether as the machinery of the Bank does not always work to perfection, amendments may not be made in the charter to effect this object. A careful examination of the present plan will show that it is not easy to make amendments without danger. If more power be given to the State Board, as they meet only four times a year, it cannot be exercised to advantage, and the labor devoted by the president, to examinations, and the sinking fund is such that no addition can well be made to his duties. If more power were given to the state, it would seem but right to lessen the responsibility of private stockholders. If the prospect of loans were to be an additional subject of contest at elections, and if directors were expected to grant bank favors to buy votes, the result would probably be as in Alabama, where the losses of the Bank have been a thousand times greater than ours has yet sustained.

It appears to the committee, that if those branches, which have any part of their capital out in long loans, would collect the same as fast as it can be safely done, if a portion of the stock provided for last winter, can be had on which loans are to be distributed among all the counties in the state, and the same may be required of all new capital added to the bank—and if the discounts can be principally directed to the encouragement of the useful and necessary business of the country, the institution would be regarded with as much favor as in the nature of things can be expected.

As the interest of the bank is best promoted by the strict performance of its duties, it may be hoped that few, if any, cases of complaint will occur hereafter. If there should be some such, as in every thing human, the evils may perhaps be borne, in consideration of the opportunities they afford to the rising geniuses of the state, to show their skill and talents in finance, which on any other subject would pass unnoticed.

The changes rapidly occurring in the moneyed concerns of the country, in the reduction of prices—the cessation of the public works—the great indebtedness of our citizens to foreigners, and especially to the eastern cities for merchandise—and the unsettled state of the currency in the adjoining states—imperatively require, that great care and prudence should be exerted by those who manage the state bank, and in this emergency when the interests of the state and the people—of the directors and private stockholders, is so great in the result. Your committee would rather encourage than embarrass them, and as no dereliction from duty yet appears, no interference on the part of the state is at present called for.

While the critical circumstances surrounding the people of the state above referred to continue—while the state is indebted to the branches between $600,000 and $700,000—which at present, there is no means of paying—and while we have so many assurances that all is safe in the bank—under these circumstances, your committee feel disposed to yield it a fair support.

And said report was read and laid upon the table.
